U. S. GOVERNMENT STRIVES TO AVERT CALAMITY

LEADERS STATE THAT INJUNCTION WILL NOT AVERT COAL STRIKE

Midnight Set For General Walk-Out of Bituminous Miners in States; Temporary Injunction Restraining Strike Activities Issued by Federal Court

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction obtained here to-day by the Government can not avert the strike of bituminous coal miners set for midnight to-night, according to John L. Lewis, acting-president of the United Mine Workers of America. Lewis's pronouncement came shortly after he had been served with a writ stopping strike activities at union headquarters here.

Lewis dictated the following statement: "I regard the issuance of this injunction as the most sweeping abrogation of the rights of citizens guaranteed under the constitution and defined by statutory law, that has ever been issued by any Federal court. This instrument will not avert the strike of bituminous mine workers and will not settle the strike after it occurs. The injunction only complicates to a further degree the problems involved in an adjournment of the controversy."

Injunction Granted.
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 31.—A temporary injunction restraining all strike activities of the United Mine Workers of America was issued in the Federal District Court here to-day on application of the United States Government. Judge A. B. Anderson signed the order, "as the showing set forth by C. E. Ames, assistant Attorney-General, that a national disaster was impending and on the broad general grounds that the Government has the right to enforce its laws and protect its people from a calamity. The order was directed against Frank G. Hayes, the incapacitated president of the union; John L. Lewis, acting president; William Green, secretary-treasurer, and all other officers of the organization. It took effect when served, and will continue in force until after the formal hearing.

In presenting the petition Judge Ames made it clear that the case will not involve the general right of workmen to organize or quit work. He said it would have no bearing on other industries, and "merely involves the right of labor during the war to restrict or destroy the supply of food and fuel."

"It rests," he added, "on the broad general powers of the Government to enforce its laws and to protect its people against disaster."
Under the order the union officials are commanded to withdraw strike orders already issued and are forbidden to send out any other orders, written or oral, tending to promote the strike or in any way make it effective. They are restrained from sending any "messages of encouragement or exhortation, or from disbursing any union funds as strike benefits."

Chicago Supply.
Chicago, Oct. 31.—Coal mine operators in the Chicago district to-day apparently held out little hope that the day would bring developments that might save the putting into effect at midnight to-night of the general strike of union miners.

The coal supply in Chicago was estimated as enough for ten days, and reports from the state were that a forty-five-days' supply was available.

Maximum Prices.
Washington, Oct. 31.—An executive order fixing maximum prices for bituminous coal was signed to-day by President Wilson. Prices of anthracite are not affected.

The maximum prices are fixed by states, and for prepared sizes range from $4.60 a net ton at mine mouth to $2.60.

Order Rescinded.
Washington, Oct. 31.—The Department of Labor was advised to-day that the coal strike order had been rescinded in Hopkins, Webster and Christian counties, Kentucky, comprising one-half of the western Kentucky fields.

Welcome Investigation.
Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 31.—The executive committee of the central competitive coal field in conference here to-day to take action on the nationwide strike of miners scheduled for midnight, adopted a resolution recommending an investigation by a tribunal appointed by President Wilson to investigate the threatened strike. The conference then adjourned.

BRITISH PRESS ON FINANCIAL DEBATE

Unanimous Acknowledgment Government Scored Triumph

London, Oct. 31.—The press to-day is unanimous in acknowledging that the Government scored a triumph in the financial debate yesterday.

Even The Daily News, a most severe critic of the Government generally, admits that the Premier's speech was a great oratorical success and made a tremendous impression on the House. The discussion, it states, flamed out by the time Premier Lloyd George had resumed his seat.

Nevertheless some of the newspapers continue criticism of what they call the Government's "faint hearted finance." They accuse the Government of replying with rhetoric and despising logic and facts.

The Times states that there will be widespread amazement that the Commons is so easily cajoled and those believing in representative institutions will tremble for democracy's future.

The Times also states that the Government is undertaking an autumn campaign throughout the country to endeavor to regain lost prestige. Two hundred mass meetings have been arranged for the next six weeks, especially in the industrial centres. The final meeting will be held in London and will be addressed by the Premier and Rt. Hon. Bonar Law.

Supplies Bought In Berlin For Russians, Report
Berlin, Oct. 29.—A German officer who has been fighting under Colonel Avallot-Bernardt in the Baltic region, told the correspondent to-day that army supplies had been bought secretly in Berlin for the Russians. The goods, he added, had been shipped to Mitau, Courland, in cars marked as American military supplies.

Kaiserlautern Fined For Recent Disorders There
Mayence, Oct. 31.—General Degoutte, French commander, has imposed a fine of 60,000 marks on the town of Kaiserlautern in the Saar region on account of recent disorders there fomented by German political agents.

The manifesto of General Degoutte imposing the fine, says the French authorities will tolerate no movement of a revolutionary character.

No Confirmation of Evacuation of Gatchina
London, Oct. 31.—Early this morning there was no confirmation of the reported evacuation of Gatchina, and, according to the view of the War Office, the report is unfounded.

Various reports received here indicate that there has been severe fighting in the neighborhood of Gatchina.

The Latvian press bureau at Copenhagen announces that the Latvian Premier, Vlamnis and Foreign Minister Mitrovitz have joined the army as volunteers.

Germany Wants
Russian Blockade Completely Raised
Basle, Oct. 31.—The German Government note to the Entente declining to participate in the blockade of soviet Russia, asks that the blockade be completely raised and that all German ships held in Baltic harbors be restored to their owners.

American Troops Bound to Coblenz
Arrive at Brest
Paris, Oct. 31.—The United States army transport President Grant, with 5,000 American troops on board who are destined for Coblenz arrived at Brest to-day.

B. C. FISHING DIVIDEND.
Montreal, Oct. 31.—British Columbia Fishing has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, payable November 21, to holders of record November 4.

LEAVES SHORES OF AMERICA FOR HOME; KING OF BELGIANS

END OF NOVEMBER MAY SEE TERMINATION OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Paris, Oct. 31.—The end of November may see the close of the Paris Peace Conference, which has negotiated the peace treaties with Germany and Austria and has carried the negotiations with Bulgaria well toward completion.

Unless the Conference can reach an agreement with Roumania and compel it to discontinue its interference in Hungarian affairs, there seems little chance that a peace treaty can be negotiated with Hungary at present, in which case the conference probably will close without making that treaty.

The Adriatic question will not necessarily prolong the life of the Conference and there is no disposition among many of the peace delegates to drag out the conference to discuss European political questions involved in the Roumanian and Italian difficulties.

Roumania is sending a special delegate to Paris to discuss its differences with the Conference and a definite settlement of the Roumanian tangle or the abandonment of the effort at disentanglement is expected very shortly.

Indications are that the Bulgarian treaty will be signed within a week or ten days.

DRURY THINKS HARD WHILE PLOWING SOIL

Announcement of New Ontario Cabinet Expected Monday

Toronto, Oct. 31.—While Premier-Prospective Ernest C. Drury, leader of the Farmer-Labor coalition to-day is turning up the furrows on his Simcoe county farm, and at the same time turning over in his mind the possibilities for his Cabinet, the reporters are waiting at the Parliament buildings for the official intimation that Sir William Hearst has handed in his resignation and that of the Lieutenant-Governor and recommended that Drury be called upon to form a new Government. Sir William Hearst said that this would be done to-day or to-morrow.

Before Mr. Drury left the city yesterday for his farm he told some of his friends that "he could think better when plowing." It was also conceded that he had not definitely chosen his future colleagues. The inference is that he is doing so to-day, while about his chores at the farm. He has left all his political advisers in Toronto and has promised to return on Monday with his mind practically made up in regard to the Cabinet.

In other respects there are no developments in the situation as reported to-day. The Liberals will hold a meeting over the week-end, and the soldier members, irrespective of party affiliations, will meet on Monday to discuss their policy in regard to the re-establishment.

WILLIS PREDICTED LEADER OF MANITOBA CONSERVATIVE PARTY
Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—R. C. Willis, of Boissevain, in all probability will be the next leader of the Manitoba Provincial Conservative party, it was stated by members of that organization to-day. The question of leadership will be formally settled at a convention here November 6. It is expected that other questions will also be brought up for discussion.

Outer Mongolians Want Protection of Chinese Government

Peking, Oct. 24.—Belated.—The Chinese Government has received a dispatch from Chen Yi, Chinese ambassador at Urga, capital of Outer Mongolia, reporting the receipt of a petition signed by the chieftains of the "Mongolian Banners."

They express the wish to cancel autonomy and return to the protection of the Chinese Government.

The Government has sent a message to Chen Yi accepting the offer.

RAILROADERS REQUEST REFUSED BY SENATE

Washington, Oct. 31.—By unanimous vote the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee refused to grant the request of representatives of the railroad brotherhood that hearings be reopened on the anti-strike provisions of the railroad bill which the Committee recently reported to the Senate.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN PLACES SIGNATURE TO PEACE TREATY

Tokio, Oct. 31.—The Emperor of Japan yesterday ratified the Versailles Peace Treaty.

Tokio advices received Thursday announced the ratification of the German treaty by Japan. It is clear from the foregoing that the ratification was by virtue of Imperial action. It was not preceded by any action by the Parliament, the constitution of Japan not requiring the assent of the Legislative body.

Previous advices had shown that the Treaty had been examined by the Privy Council and that at a meeting on Monday last it was approved by the Council without reservation and submitted to the Emperor.

Japan's favorable action on the Treaty leaves the pact unratified by only one of the five great powers signatory to the Versailles convention—the United States.

The terms of the Treaty stipulated that the ratification by three of the principal powers puts it into effect as to those powers and Germany.

AMERICAN ARMY OF 300,000 MEN

General Pershing Disagrees With Recommendations of War Department

Washington, Oct. 31.—Disagreeing with War Department recommendations for a permanent army of 500,000 General John J. Pershing to-day told a joint meeting of the Senate and House military committees that he thought the number could be placed at an "outside figure of 275,000 to 300,000, and possibly less."

The cost of maintaining a large army the General said, was an element which, in his opinion, would make it impracticable to set the figure any higher.

The General said the regular army should be sufficient to protect the nation against sudden attack and to meet America's international obligations both on the American continent and elsewhere and that this should be backed by a "trained citizen reserve."

Resignation of Government Favored by Assiniboia Vets.

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—That the Government should be asked to resign in favor of a "more democratic government," if it adopts the report of the parliamentary committee regarding gratuities, is the opinion of the returned soldiers of the municipality of Assiniboia, Man., as expressed in a resolution which was passed unanimously at a meeting of the St. James branch of the G. W. V. A. last night.

Twelve-Hour Day to be Re-established In German Mines

Geneva, Oct. 31.—A general meeting at Mannheim, Baden, of associations of miners and transport workers in the Rhine region has decided, owing to the lack of coal in Southern Germany, to re-establish the twelve-hour day with voluntary work Sundays until the crisis is passed, according to a Basel dispatch. The rate of wages has not been announced.

Commercial relations between Germany and Italy by way of St. Gothard have been reopened.

Picture Brides Are Not Wanted by U. S. Japanese

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—Resolutions requesting that the practice of importing "picture brides" from Japan to this country be stopped have been sent by the Japanese Association of America, representing 15,000 in California to the Japanese Government and Ambassador to the United States and the State Department, the association announced here to-day.

LOAN MADE GREATEST PROGRESS IN DRIVE DURING FOURTH DAY

$187,650 Invested Yesterday; Including Investment of Government and City, Victoria Over Million and a Half Mark; $65,000 Invested at Trenches

Speaking of the Victory Loan drive in Victoria is reflected in yesterday's $187,650 subscription, the largest daily investment made so far. This sum, which does not include a large number of subscriptions made late yesterday evening, brings Victoria's total investment, including the city's subscription of $100,000, up to $723,650 exclusive of the $789,000 invested by the Provincial Government. Thus at the end of the fourth day of the campaign Victoria was well over $1,500,000 mark, with the selling organization making greater strides than ever.

Local bond-sellers are branching out from the business district of the city to-day, and are commencing operations in the southern residential sections. While the down-town part of the city has been raked once for idle dollars, it will be revisited next week. This action is necessitated by the fact that numbers of large firms prefer to withhold their investments until after the end of the month in order that they may not lose bank interest.

Dug-Out Sells $65,000 Worth of Bonds.
While yesterday achieved the greatest results of the drive up to the present the canvass to-day is expected to equal, if not surpass, this performance. Particularly active work is going forward at the German trenches at the corner of Fort and Government Streets, where yesterday no less than $65,000 worth of bonds was sold.

Island Reports Progress.
Progress in the loan drive also is being made in up-island centres. Few reports on the totals achieved so far were received to-day, but it was announced that Duncan had gone ahead to the extent of $4,000, Chemainus, $2,000, and Ladysmith, $8,000.

Following are the totals reached by the various centres, as announced at loan headquarters to-day:

Cobble Hill	$17,000
Duncan	54,300
Chemainus	5,150
Ladysmith	8,000
Nanaimo	46,000
Parksville	15,000
Union Bay	3,000
Courtenay	2,500
Cumberland	30,000
Port Alberni	17,000
Cassidy	21,000

The prevailing confidence in up-island loan centres is expressed in a telegram received to-day by Brigadier-General Clark, Island Loan chairman, from E. F. Miller, the head of the drive at Duncan: "Starting slow, but confident that we will exceed quota."

(Concluded on page 4.)

GERMAN NATIONAL DEBT STAGGERING

Erzberger Says It Will Aggregate 212,812,000,000 Marks by March, 1920

Berlin, Oct. 31.—The National Assembly yesterday passed the third reading of the budget and adjourned until November 20.

Mathias Erzberger, Minister of Finance, said new taxes were expected to yield nine billion marks. As the interest on the National debt would be $3,817,000,000 marks, Herr Erzberger said his estimate of the revenue of 1919 had previously been fully covered. He added that the National debt amounted to 208,000,000,000 and by the end of March, 1920, it probably would aggregate 212,812,000,000 marks.

ABANDON HOPE FOR ENTOMBED MINERS

Amsterdam, Ohio, Oct. 31.—After having been entombed 48 hours little hope is held out that the 21 miners entombed in the Y. & O. mine No. 2 here are still alive. Without food, shut off in the north passage of the mine by flames and with the greater part of the mine flooded with water poured into the shaft to beat back the flames, mine officials early to-day said they believed few if any of the men could have survived.

"NOT SUFFICIENT FUNDS"
Montreal, Oct. 31.—Eighteen of the cheques tendered in payment of tickets for the citizens' ball last night at which the Prince of Wales was present were returned to-day from the banks marked "N.S.F."

GRAND TRUNK LINES IN UNITED STATES

Government Statement Shows Control of Thirty-three Railway Companies

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—A statement on the Grand Trunk Lines in the United States was made to the Senate yesterday by Sir James Loughheed in answer to a question.

The statement submitted by the Government showed that in the United States the Grand Trunk controlled thirty-three railway companies. The par value of the capital stock of the thirty-three companies is $26,700,000. The total par value of the bonds and other indebtedness is $84,919,024. The total par value held by the Grand Trunk is $51,332,193. The total par value held by the public is $36,686,830.

Sir James stated that the Government would acquire the Canadian Express Company with the Grand Trunk.

The Senate adjourned until Monday, at which consideration of the Grand Trunk bill in the Upper House cannot be commenced until that date.

WINNIPEG'S MAYOR SCORED BY LABOR

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—The initial attack on Mayor Gray was made by S. J. Farmer at a meeting of Ward 3 ratepayers, held last night. Mr. Farmer said he intended to confine his opposition to Mayor Gray mainly on the basis of policy, but felt bound to refer to one trait seen during the strike. Mayor Gray had no clear opinion as to the proper course, he said, and finally allowed the wrong crowd to judge him. "Had he understood the underlying social problem," said Mr. Farmer, we would never have seen the spectacle of soldiers firing in the streets of Winnipeg.

The most damning thing he could say of Mayor Gray, was that he was primarily the cause of shooting down unarmed persons. Labor had too long been exploited by commercial interests and political quacks, and had decided to save themselves. They did not expect to turn Winnipeg into a paradise at once, if they gained a majority, but they would promise that civic affairs would be administered in the interests of the common people. It is easy to understand why a little learning is a dangerous thing when you meet a man who thinks he knows it all.

BIG MAJORITY IN CONFIDENCE VOTE

Clyne's Amendment For Levy on Capital Defeated in British House

London, Oct. 31.—The Government was given a vote of confidence in the House of Commons last night on its financial policy by an overwhelming majority of 355. An amendment to the Government financial resolution moved by J. R. Clyne, Laborite, and former food controller, was rejected by 405 to 59, and the Government resolution was unanimously adopted. This resolution, which was drafted at a Cabinet meeting Monday, declared:

"That this House, realizing the serious effects upon the trade and industry of the nation of the enormous financial burdens resulting from the war, promises its hearty support to the Government in all reasonable proposals, however drastic, for the reduction of expenditure and the diminution of the debt."

Although the Ministers' speeches had been wholly devoted to defending the revised estimates presented by the Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and practically no plans had been outlined for serious retrenchment, the Clyne amendment, calling for a levy upon capital and the reversion to the state of fortunes made from the war, was quickly disposed of, and when the Government motion was put from the chair, although the Laborites challenged division, they did not persist, and the motion was adopted without division amid loud cheers and ironical laughter.

Nothing was indicated during the course of the debate concerning the nature of the proposals, however drastic, mentioned in the Government motion, and the ministerial speeches seemed to show that the Government is relying on the growth of the country's industries and commerce as the chief means of meeting the financial burdens; hence the expressed anxiety to do nothing calculated to injure the country's credit abroad.

GRAVE DANGER TO NATIONAL SECURITY

Hostility of Bolsheviks to Governments, Marshal Foch, in Note

Paris, Oct. 31.—The text of the note sent by Marshal Foch to General Nudant for transmission to the German Government inviting Germany to participate in the blockade of Bolshevik Russia is similar to that sent to the neutral states, with the exception of the last paragraph. The note says in part:

"The avowed hostility of the Bolsheviks toward all governments and their international programme of revolution, which they are spreading abroad, constitute grave danger for the national security of all powers. Every increase of the strength of Bolsheviks would increase the danger, and would be contrary to the desire of all peoples who are seeking to re-establish peace and social order."

The note sent to Germany contains the following final paragraph: "The British and French warships in the Gulf of Finland shall continue to change the routes of ships bound for ports of Bolshevik Russia."

NEW STRUCTURE TO REPLACE DESTROYED CHEAKAMUS BRIDGE

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—Destroyed in the great forest fires that raged in the district several weeks ago, the bridge at Cheakamus, on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, will be replaced by another structure by November 7. Work on the new bridge has been under way since the fire. In the meantime the P. G. E. has continued to send supplies through the bridge by use of cable. All freight in less than carloads lots has been hauled by the cable, so that no serious inconveniences resulted from the fire. A foot bridge was built across the river for passengers. All construction material for use of the extension of the road was taken in by way of Ashcroft.

The P. G. E. is now operating as far as Lone Butte, 216.5 miles past Squamish. By November 15 the road will be operating as far as Mile 105 on the Cariboo Road, a distance of 220 miles north of Squamish.

REPORT REFERRED TO CANADA'S POSITION

International Labor Conference Will Not Determine Question

Washington, Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press)—In the official text of the organizing committee's report, submitted to the International Labor Conference, reference is made to the objection made by Canada to the objection made by the committee in drafting a list of the eight nations of "chief industrial importance," and therefore each entitled to nominate a member of the governing board of the international labor office. Referring to the committee's list of suggested eight nations—a list which excludes Canada—the report says: "It does not appear advisable to examine fully the reasons which inspired the action of the committee as the Conference will not have to determine this question."

"On the other hand, it must be stated that we have found it impossible to take into account the data supplied by the new States whose borders were still ill-defined and whose statistics relating to the period before the war were useless."

"Our only purpose in drawing up the list has been to facilitate as much as possible the drawing up of a final list and the decision of the League of Nations as to make possible the appointment of the governing body."

Sweden and Poland, as well as Canada, have filed objections to the suggested list.

"This conference of international journeymen," says The Washington Post, in referring to the delegates, "as well as the delegates, at a time like this, as a guest in a house where a funeral is taking place."

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It is the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

FINANCE MINISTER MAKES APPEAL FOR LOAN AT MOOSE JAW

Moose Jaw, Oct. 31.—A large audience turned out to hear Sir Henry Drayton's address on behalf of the Victory Loan last night. The Minister of Finance gave a clear expression of the urgent need of the money, his address being "Why More Money is Needed."

Sir Henry said that Canada needed $607,000,000 to meet her obligations in the event of the loan being largely over-subscribed, the whole of it would be applied honestly, fully and fairly to such obligations and for many years municipalities and Governments must adopt a policy of retrenchment and economy.

NO STRIKE OF POSTAL EMPLOYEES IN STATES

Washington, Oct. 31.—Mild rumblings of many months of a possible strike of union postal employees to bring about improvement in working conditions and increased wages standards were quieted finally when tabulation of the referendum vote of the members of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks resulted favorably for retention of the "no strike" clause in its constitution. The result of the vote was 9,460 against the clause and 10,389 in favor. A two-thirds vote is required to change the constitution. Less than 60 per cent. of the membership voted.

DENIKINE MOVING TOWARDS MOSCOW

Report Says Oreh Is Recaptured From the Bolsheviks

Helmsington, Oct. 31.—A report from Russian sources received here says that General Denikine has recaptured Oreh from the Bolsheviks and is advancing toward Moscow.

Bolsheviks Mass Troops. London, Oct. 31.—The Bolsheviks have put an immense number of troops against General Denikine and are trying, by pressure on both sides of the Oreh salient to pinch this off and thereby relieve the threat against Moscow, according to official information. Denikine's advance continues, but it is pointed out that a break in the weather must be expected at an early date, and he has a long way to go to reach Moscow.

A wireless dispatch received from Moscow reports that General Yudenitch has been compelled to evacuate Gatchina, owing to the fact that the Bolsheviks are menacing his line of communication.

Late last night there was no confirmation of the reported evacuation of Gatchina, and according to the view of the War Office the report is unfounded.

Various reports indicate that there has been severe fighting near Gatchina.

Attack on Riga. The Russo-German troops under Colonel Bermond were reported to be concentrating for an attack on Riga, while German detachments are proceeding from Memel and Shavil toward Libau. The advice says that the present attack against Latvia is a German effort, into which the Germans are throwing every available reserve. There are 34,000 German troops in Courland, and the number is increasing daily.

MANITOBA GRAIN GROWERS WANT DIRECT POLITICAL ACTION

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—Resolutions declaring that direct political action is urgently necessary, have been passed by many local branches of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association as a result of the "Political Drive," started a fortnight ago in Manitoba. W. J. Woods, secretary of the Association, announces that in response to a request from the central office of the Association as to independent political action in support of the principles of the platform of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, locals all over the Province have formulated their position and expressed them in statements sent in during the last ten days.

GERMANY WILL BE BOUND TO CARRY OUT ARMISTICE CLAUSES

Paris, Oct. 31.—(Havas)—Before the peace treaty becomes effective the German representatives will be required, it is expected here, to sign an additional protocol, binding Germany to carry out armistice clauses which were not incorporated in the treaty of Versailles. The Supreme Council yesterday considered the text of the proposed instrument.

DAIRYMEN IN CONVENTION.

Everett, Wash., Oct. 31.—The Washington State Dairymen's Association met here yesterday afternoon in its 27th annual session. Between 250 and 300 delegates are attending. The three day programme covers all phases of dairy work. The programme includes speeches by E. F. Benson, State Commissioner of agriculture; S. F. Tolmie, Canadian Minister of Agriculture and Professor W. T. McDonald, British Columbia livestock commissioner.

Safe Fat Reduction

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the over-fat woman, her hands in motion, is a nauseating sight, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription and learn through it that they may safely reduce two, three or four pounds a week without one change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly, and quickly reaching their ideal of figure, with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known. And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famous harmless formula, which you learn the satisfaction, beneficial effects of this great, safe fat reducer by giving to your druggist $1 for a generous sized case, or sending a like amount to the Marmola Co., 364 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a full case of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

BUYING CONCENTRATES

Nelson, B.C., Oct. 31.—In order to keep its electrolytic zinc plant at the Trail smelter working while the Sullivan mine at Kimberley is shut down by the One Big Union strike, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada is buying accumulated zinc concentrates from Rambler-Cariboo, Standard and Echo properties, all in the Shocan. The arrangement terminates in three weeks.

ALIENS ARRESTED IN WINNIPEG DEPORTED

Winnipeg, Oct. 31.—Ten of the aliens arrested in this city during the riots of June 19 have been deported, according to information received here. The men had been held in the Kapuskasing internment camp, Ontario, and sailed from Canada on October 27. One man who had been arrested at the same time, a Russian who had served four years overseas with the 51st Battalion, is still in the internment camp, according to information of officials of the labor defence league.

EXPLOSION KILLED MANY ON WARSHIP

Tokio, Oct. 31.—The manoeuvres of the entire Japanese navy, in which the Emperor participated, were marred by an explosion on the battleship Hyuga, in Tokyo Bay. Fourteen men were killed and thirty injured. The Emperor was aboard the battleship Settsu. The manoeuvres, which were the most elaborate in the history of the navy, included mimic battles and aeroplane attacks on coastal cities.

INFLUX OF SETTLERS EXPECTED ON PRAIRIE

Saskatoon, Oct. 31.—A big influx of settlers is anticipated early next year by local realty dealers. British investors are planning to push development work in the farming areas in anticipation of a stream of colonists from the British Isles. Many Americans are disposing of their holdings and moving into the prairie sections of Saskatchewan, it is stated.

BANDITS INTERRUPTED QUIET POKER GAME

Edmonton, Oct. 31.—Three young desperadoes entered the Windsor rooming house at an early hour yesterday morning and held up at the point of a revolver five roomers who were indulging in a quiet little poker game. The bandits, who made away with $280, were about eighteen years of age, and have been giving the city police considerable trouble for a long time. One of the three who gave his name as Clarence Jones, was arrested by Constable McLean.

SINN FEINERS DEFIED ORDER"Parliament" Convened in Spite of Government Proclamation

Dublin, Oct. 31.—The meeting of the Sinn Fein parliament Thursday night was in direct defiance of the Government's proclamation, and the people are interested to know what the Government will do about it. The meeting being illegal, the Irish papers are forbidden to mention it.

A report circulated by the Sinn Fein says that a national inspector of fisheries will be appointed; that a civil service scheme is being arranged to embrace all local offices, and also that national arbitration courts and labor conciliation bodies will be formed.

"Estimates for the coming financial period," says the report, "were laid before the House and the necessary votes of credit adopted."

The six Sinn Fein members for Dublin have sent to the United States consul a copy of alleged instructions for searching the effects of United States seamen. The letter says:

"As these instructions constitute a hindrance to lawful trade of America with Ireland, we, the elected representatives of the city of Dublin, request that you transmit copies of them to your Government."

RELIGIOUS SPLIT IN THE EAST PROVED
"TEMPEST IN TEACUP"

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The discussion in the ranks of the Baptists of Ontario and Quebec regarding the authority of scriptures, which by many was considered to be of such vital importance as to cause a split in the denomination, has been aired and the whole thing has assumed the aspect of a "tempest in a teacup."

Not one delegate in the convention expressed unorthodox views when the subject came up for discussion and there was not a dissenting voice to an amended resolution by Rev. T. T. Shields, of Toronto, embodying the old Baptist doctrine of "the divine inspiration of the Old and New Testaments and their absolute supremacy and sufficiency in the matters of faith and practice." Also that "the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments were given by inspiration of God, and are the only sufficient, certain and authoritative rule of safe knowledge, faith and obedience."

Dr. John Macneil, was elected president.

SMALL CHANGE
CRISIS IN PARIS
BELIEVED PASSED

Paris, Oct. 30.—With the arrest today of five speculators in silver coins the small change crisis in Paris seems to have passed. The police locked up five men found purchasing silver coins from street car and automobile bus conductors, waiters and other persons.

The trail led to a bank where the silver was melted. One silver bar weighing fifty pounds, still bearing the marks of one two-franc piece was found.

SPLIT IN LABOR
RANKS AT SASKATOON

Machinists to Apply for a Charter Under the O. B. U.

Saskatoon, Oct. 31.—Following the visit of R. J. Johns, the Winnipeg strike leader, to this city, which was followed by a closed meeting in the Labor Temple, announcement was made last night that the International Association of Machinists and Helpers had decided to break away from the Trades Congress of Canada, and make immediate application for a charter under the One Big Union.

Associated with the Machinists in the drastic course adopted are Boiler-makers, Helpers and Washout Men and other workers employed in kindred trades.

The split in the labor forces of the city came as a complete surprise, but so decisive was the movement that by yesterday morning more than 200 men had applied for membership in the O. B. U. The movers in the scheme anticipate a wholesale secession to the O. B. U., and it was stated in the evening many other workers in other crafts would likely follow the lead taken by the machinists. Steamfitters are on the verge of severing their connection with the international federation and linking up with the One Big Union, it is stated.

Strong objection has been made locally to the resolution passed by the Trades Congress at its recent session at Hamilton, which would give the Congress arbitrary powers over affiliated bodies. A resolution voicing the protest was passed at the meeting of the local Trades and Labor Council last week.

FIVE STATES IN U. S. WILL ELECT
GOVERNORS NOV. 4

New York, Oct. 31.—Five states—Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maryland, Kentucky and Mississippi, will elect governors at the "off-year" elections to be held Tuesday, November 4. The only congressional election throughout the country will be in the Fifth District of Oklahoma, where a successor will be chosen to the late Rep. Joseph B. Thompson, November 8.

Prohibition is the chief issue in the Ohio elections, where voters will be called upon to vote two amendments and two referendums upon the subject.

RAPID GROWTH OF CHEMICAL INDUSTRY
SHOWN IN REPORT

Over 500 Manufacturers of Chemical Products Listed in Directory

Progress in the chemical industry of Canada is shown in the Directory of Chemical Industries in Canada, as of date January 1, 1919, prepared for the Honorary Advisory Council for Scientific and Industrial Research by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and issued as a part of the Census of Industry.

The directory contains a list of over 500 firms manufacturing chemical products in Canada. The following is the number of plants by provinces:

Nova Scotia	30
Prince Edward Island	2
New Brunswick	20
Quebec	161
Manitoba	293
Saskatchewan	38
Alberta	21
British Columbia	61
Total	634

Development of the industry. The growth of the chemical industry in the Dominion is thus summarized in the report:

The unprecedented demand for explosives and other munitions of war which are the products of chemical change, together with the decreased imports of chemical products from European countries has built up in Canada during the past four years a number of large industries employing thousands of workers, and unless many of these factories can find peace-time uses for their war-time products, much of the advantage we have gained in the way of commercial chemical progress will be lost. Already, many of the plants operated by the Imperial Munitions Board have been closed down, and in some instances dismantled. There remain, however, many plants in the chemical field, which are still operating, and there is room for yet others. Thus a review of what we have is primarily in order, so that we may understand wherein we lack and how best to build up a chemical industry compatible with our general industrial needs.

Progress in chemical industry in Canada can only be made with the co-operation of the representatives of capital supported by popular sentiment. The latter, as a force in the country, is often overlooked. In this regard, Canada may well take a page from the German note book, as our neighbors to the south have done. In every land, where an industry of national importance is to be built up, the people must be educated to its importance and value. Exemplification of what has just been said is found in an extract from the report made by the Allen Property Custodian of the United States, in which, writing on the subject of "The Chemical Industry," he says: "It seems to have been regarded as the duty of a good German chemist in the United States to preach the doctrine of the invincibility of the German chemical industry, the impossible difficulty of the processes of many important dyes, and the hopelessness of procuring the necessary technically trained men and skilled labor outside of Germany." Canada has listened all too long to just such doctrine, but our successes in the chemical field during the war just closed have done much to instill ideas which lead a vigorous people to the accomplishment of great deeds.

Although we are not a nation of superlatives, we have in some of our resources and industries the "largest" and the "greatest." Possibly the most outstanding development in chemical lines during the war has occurred at Shawinigan Falls, Quebec. Here, on the St. Maurice River, has been constructed one of the largest power reservoirs in the world, second only to the great dam at Gatun. The city that has grown up at Shawinigan is filled with the workers who are employed in the many and varied lines of endeavor utilizing the great resources of power held in check for the service of man. Here the world's largest glacial acetic acid plant was built for war purposes, an entirely new process being developed. Acetone, paraldehyde, crotonaldehyde, mercuric oxide, and manganese acetate are now also produced. Here, too, magnesium of a purity ranging from 99 per cent to 99.9 per cent, is made electrolytically from its fused salts. Aluminum, successfully made at Shawinigan, proved attractive, and now a second company, this time United States owned, has built a plant nearby.

At Niagara Falls, further utilization of the great water-power available has been made, much of it naturally going to power for lighting and heating. Besides this use there has been a further adaptation to the manufacture of fixed atmospheric nitrogen as cyanamide, the lime-nitrogen fertilizer, and its conversion into ammonium salts. Aluminous abrasives, ferro-silicon, and other electric furnace products are native to Niagara and Shawinigan.

The water-powers of Ontario and Quebec have scarcely been touched as yet and the magnificent resources of Manitoba and British Columbia in this regard still call their usefulness to a people only beginning to show appreciation of their potentialities. Our development and future in chemical industry do not entirely depend, however, upon our utilization

CONDUCTOR WAS UNABLE TO WORK
FOR 8 MONTHS

For Four Years Could Only Work Half Time; Never Misses an Hour

"The remarkable results being obtained from Tanlac is further evidenced in the case of Albert Burgess, a popular conductor on the Winnipeg Electric Railway, living at 453 Stradbrook Avenue, Port Rouge. Mr. Burgess called at Liggett's Drug Store for his fifth bottle of Tanlac, recently, and made the following statement:

"I have been so wonderfully benefited by Tanlac that I will never stop praising it. For the past four years I have not been able to work, but about three days a week, and have had to spend a good part of my wages trying to get my health back. For eight months I was unable to hit a lick of work, and was just barely able to get about. I suffered with awful pains through my forehead all the time, and also had spells of dizziness when I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. My stomach finally got in such a bad shape that I could scarcely eat enough to keep me alive. What little I did eat soured on my stomach and I suffered terribly from gas and bloating. I took all kinds of medicines, but still I suffered, and could not get myself in shape to work more than half time. I would go for weeks at a time without getting more than an hour's sleep a night. My condition was awful, and I didn't know what to do or where to turn for relief.

"At last a friend begged me to try Tanlac and now I wish I had known about it long ago, for it has really made me feel like a brand new man. I used to suffer with a dreadful hurting in the pit of my stomach, but after taking Tanlac a short while this trouble disappeared, and now my stomach is in such a good shape that I can eat just anything I want and never suffer a bit with gas or pain, and my appetite is so big that I can hardly get enough to eat. The pains have not only left my head, but all my misery is gone, and I have not missed an hour from my work since shortly after I began taking Tanlac. I have also gained several pounds in weight, but what I was after was relief and thanks to Tanlac I have found it. I can now handle my work as well as when I first got my run seven years ago. It certainly was lucky for me that I got Tanlac."

of water-powers. These have been mentioned because it is around them that the most spectacular development has taken place.

The demand for acetic acid and acetone, in the manufacture of munitions of war, stimulated the wood distillation industries of the country, and not only was the output of these products greatly increased, but acetic anhydride, methyl acetate, and special grades of acetone-alcohol and acetone oils were added to the list of products.

Coal Tar Products. Coal tar products, including dyes, medicinal and fine chemicals for photographic and reagent purposes were almost entirely of German origin before the war. In the matter of coal tar dyes alone, Germany supplied approximately nine-tenths of the world's needs, while it is not probable that we shall see a coal tar dye industry built up in Canada, such as has been started both in Great Britain and in the United States, and, in the course of a few years, it is hoped they will be able to compete successfully in the markets of the world. Some coal tar medicinal grades have been made in Canada, and there seems to be a field in the line of work. Salicylic acid and the well known acetyl derivative, better known as aspirin, are now made in Canada. Coumarin, benzole acid, benzoate of soda, and benzaldehyde are more names taken at random from the list of new Canadian chemicals. The distillation of coal tar is carried on here more extensively, and new disinfectants, closely resembling former German products, are appearing from Canadian factories. A further use of coal tar products is in the preservation of wood by creosoting and in the manufacture of tarred felt, as well as the various grades of tar and pitch used in roofing, paving, waterproofing, and road treating. These products will need considerable advertising in order to bring to the attention of the Canadian people the fact that quantities of these supplies are now produced in this country.

Paints and varnishes are being made in increased quantities, and at least one new lead corroding works has been established.

In the field of heavy chemicals, where transportation charges often form the determining factor of costs, each country tends to supply its own needs, and the large quantities required enable the manufacturer to enjoy the benefits of "quantity production," which was so characteristic of the German dye and chemical houses. The demands of the war here led some of our older houses into new lines, for example, the manufacture of oleum for use in the making of high explosives. Several new acid plants have sprung up, and facilities for the production of sulphuric, nitric, and mixed acids have been largely CLIMBING UP.

Up to midnight last night the total subscriptions to the Victory Loan for all Canada were estimated at $103,229,354. This is one-third of the quota fixed for the loan and a little more than one-fifth of the objective. It is a much better showing than was made in the corresponding period last year, and if the pace be maintained the loan will be oversubscribed as largely as that of 1918, which broke all records. Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, stated in a speech last night that the discharge of the obligations already incurred and present and future requirements would call for more than $600,000,000, so there is a long way between the official minimum and the amount required. British Columbia's total up to yesterday was given out as $1,298,564, but this evidently did not include a large part of the day's subscriptions. The Province has done much better than that, but it has still a high hill to climb to oversubscribe its quota of $25,000,000.

THE BIG COAL STRIKE.

If the 400,000 employees of the bituminous coal mines of the United States go on strike at midnight to-night according to schedule, one of the bitterest industrial conflicts in the history of the republic, with economic consequences of unexampled gravity, will have commenced. The present trouble recalls the great strikes in the anthracite coal fields of 1900 and 1902 in which John Mitchell, who died the other day, played a leading part on behalf of the strikers and which brought about the successful mediation of President Roosevelt.

The strike ordered to take place to-night, however, will differ from the other great conflicts in one respect, at least, which may have a very definite bearing upon the outcome. The United States Government has virtually become one of the principals following the disregard of its demand that the strike order be recalled, and is adopting drastic measures to minimize the effect of the walkout upon the country.

Meanwhile, the courts also have become involved, an injunction having been issued by the United States District Court of Indianapolis, prohibiting the officials of the United Mine Workers from going on strike. If this injunction be ignored proceedings, no doubt, will be taken against the officials, which unquestionably will add a fresh element of bitterness to the situation.

Notwithstanding the measures adopted by the Government to conserve and regulate the fuel supply and to stop profiteering in the event of a strike, the cessation of work in the mines will cause much hardship and, in conjunction with the unsettled steel strike, will tremendously affect American industry, greatly increasing unemployment. As Canada is a heavy importer of coal from the United States some parts of this country also will suffer.

WILL PLAY A GREAT PART.

From time to time we read of backing being given by the Provincial Industrial Board to enterprises started chiefly by returned soldiers, and under provision made by the Provincial Government last Session. These, however, represent but a small proportion of the men who have come from overseas who are embarking in projects of their own which do not come within the scope of the Board. Probably, if a census were taken of those who were exploring and discovering fields for their energy throughout the Province the number and the variety of their activities would be surprising.

In this lies a significance as much psychological as economic. Many of these men a few years ago never would have thought of going in for themselves in any line of industrial or commercial activity. They were working for somebody else and had no desire to bear more than routine responsibility or to test their initiative. Their ambition was bounded by the horizon of their immediate environment. In them their experience overseas has wrought a great change, of which perhaps they themselves may not be fully conscious. It taught them to use their initiative and resourcefulness, to adapt themselves to new and unexpected situations, to stand up under adversity and to pocket their worries. Unusual responsibility, at one time a formidable spectre to be avoided, became something to be accepted as part of the day's work.

All this will be reflected in good time in the future of British Columbia. The development of the Province calls for the very things we have mentioned even more than for capital, and in the years to come we are going to see a remarkable application of the qualities developed in the war to the development of the country—not so much the qualities directly required for beating down the enemy as those which came out of the crucible of adversity, hardship and stress. We shall see the citizen soldier prominent in industry and commerce, in literature and science, not because of Government paternalism or adventitious aid given to him because he was a soldier, but because of the effect of his experience overseas upon his character and mind.

It often is said that as the soldier's business is to destroy, the principal effect of war upon him is to enlarge his destructive tendencies. This is true only in the case of militarized nations which hold armies in leash for war for years, and the training of whom is confined entirely to destructive activities. It never is true of citizens who become soldiers under the stress of a great national emergency, who fight to defend their freedom and their homes.

The record shows that suffering and sacrifice have been the bases of the best progress of civilization, of epochal advances in the arts and sciences and of the moral and spiritual uplift of humanity. They will be the same in the present stage of the world's history and that is why we may expect that the citizen soldier, upon whom suffering and sacrifice fell so heavily, will play a leading part in the constructive activities of this country.

"TAX ON TAXES."

Victoria's delegation to the recent convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities attracted a good deal of attention to itself and generally got its way. Effective opposition, however, met its advocacy for a reduction of the penalty imposed on arrears of taxes from fifteen per cent to eight per cent. Lacking any recommendation for alteration, therefore, this particular "super-tax" will remain as prescribed by the 1919 amendments to the Municipal Act and, incidentally, a troublesome burden on the small property holder. And it must be expected, too, that delinquency will be with us for some time to come.

In the meantime, it must not be forgotten the dollar has shrunk in value without commensurate relief in other directions. So that one of the results which may be expected is the possibility that any pressure to pay up arrears, as the only means of escaping the compulsory tax sale, very largely may be met by a point-blank refusal to submit to the further impost, which makes a heavy load heavier without any guarantee of relief to the city. Hence with the compulsory sale now a matter of municipal policy, the Victoria delegation sought to get the "super-tax" reduced, basing its argument presumably upon the city's right to remedy by suit against the delinquent. With the Union against the reduction, however, it is difficult to see how Provincial legislation may be obtained unless there be a change of heart between now and the forthcoming session of the local House.

"EPILEPTIC SCREAMING."

During the last few months a section of the British press has charged the Government with unavoidable extravagance. As a popular topic for its millions of readers the Northcliffe journals have led the way. Special writers have been engaged to travel the country and collect evidence of apparent waste in matters particularly related to the country's military organization.

In one of his contributions to The Daily Mail, Mr. Lovat Fraser sums up the attitude of the Government in the following terms: "They discharge half a dozen 'flappers' one day and establish a new almshouse for bureaucrats the next." He declares that there are evidences everywhere which suggest that the country is still at war, while he singles out the Royal Air Force as achieving a record for sheer reckless waste without parallel in the history of the country.

In reply to this and a great deal more of it collected by the Northcliffe organization, which apparently now has set out in earnest to choke Mr. Lloyd George with an "extravagance" pill, the Premier declared in Parliament yesterday that "the sort of 'epileptic screaming' which had deafened the country's ears could find no echo in a calm assembly like the House of Commons."

It is incomprehensible that the Prime Minister is being bluffed. If the titled and specially privileged underlings in the various Departments are digging themselves in it should not be difficult to commence their demobilization. Nor can Mr. Lloyd George afford to let such charges go unchallenged, and if he should be convinced that public money is being squandered to the extent alleged by his avowedly hostile press, he is not the man to turn a deaf ear either to "epileptic" or any other "screaming."

It ought to be reasonable, however, to take the attitude of the House of Commons yesterday as having disposed of at least the greater part of the "smoke screen" raised by the Northcliffe press to obscure the Northcliffe motive. What ever the difficulties may be that the Prime Minister has created for himself he is entitled to fair play, and this the Commons gave him. After the vote of confidence on the Government's financial policy—supported, by the way, by many past and prospective victims of the Northcliffe whim—the electorate probably will take the charge that the country is bleeding white from gigantic waste with a grain of salt.

THE PASSING OF THE RED TROUSERS.

(From The Manchester Guardian.)

The red trousers of the French army are to be no more. There is a political and economical tragedy about it with which very few people are familiar. The originator of the red trousers was Napoleon, who was prompted in his "reform" by a desire to help the native cultivation of madder root—at that time and for many centuries previously the chief source of red color throughout the world—against the Dutch and Italian rivals. As a result the industry expanded considerably, and some fifty years ago was worth nearly $2,000,000 per annum. But then came the Gracie-Liebschman discovery of the alizarine dyes, and in less than ten years, between 1870 and 1878, the production of madder root in France shrank from 25,000 to 500 tons, and then it disappeared. This was a great German victory. Nevertheless the army trousers continued to be dyed red, only this time the dyes had to be imported from Germany. This was certainly a great humiliation for the French, but it evidently required a great war to put an end to it.

LEADERS STATE THAT INJUNCTIONS WILL NOT AVERT COAL STRIKE

In Washington.
Seattle, Oct. 31.—Every coal miner in Washington will strike at midnight to-night, Robert H. Harlin, president of District No. 10, U. M. W. of A., said here to-day when told of the injunction granted in Indianapolis.

"All I have to say is that the injunction will not stop the strike of union coal miners here in Washington," Mr. Harlin said. "There are about 6,000 of them and they will all go out."

Mr. Harlin declared he was certain the strike plans had reached a point, where they could not be stopped. He asserted that he agreed with eastern union officials who declared the miners could not be reached in time to stop the walkout.

In Ohio.
Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 31.—John Moore, president of the United Mine Workers of Ohio, upon learning that the miners' union had been enjoined from striking to-morrow, declared that thousands of Ohio miners could not be notified in time to prevent them from striking at midnight to-night.

"We have no official notice of the injunction and if we did it would be impossible to notify the forty thousand Ohio miners in time," said President Moore.

Many of the miners will read of the injunction in the newspapers, he said, but other thousands will not see a newspaper for several days.

Pledge Support.
Washington, Oct. 31.—Republican leaders of the House to-day agreed to press adoption of the resolution approved yesterday by the Senate, pledging support to the "National Administration and all others in authority in their efforts to meet the present industrial emergency."

More Than Strike.
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 31.—Assuming a defiant attitude towards the Government's move to stop by injunction the threatened strike of soft coal miners, Frank Farrington, chairman of the miners' scale committee and president of the Illinois district declared to-day the "strike had developed into something more than a miners' strike," and that it was an attempt to enslave the workmen and women of the country.

Labor Protests.
Washington, Oct. 31.—Officials of the American Federation of Labor protested to Attorney-General Palmer to-day against the action of the Government in obtaining an injunction in the coal strike.

Sampel Gompers, president of the federation, did not accompany the delegation, but an agreement was made for him to see the attorney-general later.

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—The American Mining Congress will do all it can to bring the coal strike, due at midnight to-night, to a speedy conclusion, John T. Burns, assistant secretary of the Congress, announced here to-day. "I will communicate with other officers," Mr. Burns said, "to ascertain of what assistance we can be in this crisis. We will do anything possible to bring together the operators and miners."

In Alabama.
Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 31.—On the eve of the threatened strike of bituminous coal miners, conditions in this region, where 15,000 men are employed, appeared normal.

The miners of the Bankhead local union voted yesterday to strike, and deposited their president, who, with other speakers, contended that the Alabama miners should not take part in a sympathetic strike in the interests of the central competitive fields.

Colorado.
Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 31.—Twenty-one thousand of the 25,000 members of the United Mine Workers of America in District 16, comprised of coal fields of Colorado, New Mexico and Utah, will answer the strike call at midnight to-night, according to figures made public by H. G. Stewart, district secretary of the union. Four thousand men, employed in twenty-eight mines of Colorado, are exempt from the strike order, he said, because they are working under a union contract, which has not expired.

Mr. Stewart predicted the strike would paralyze production in the properties of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, which does not recognize the union. The Victor-American Fuel Company, with ten mines, is the largest operator the properties of which are exempt from the strike order.

Met at Cleveland.
Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 31.—The executive committee of the coal operators of the central competitive field met here to-day to determine its policy during the pending strike of bituminous miners. Much importance was attached to the meeting. Heretofore any action taken by this body as to wages and hours has governed other bituminous fields. The committee will remain in session until to-morrow night, it was announced, to be prepared to reach a decision should any suggestions come from the Government at Washington or the miners.

The Great March From "Aida"— Play It on Your Columbia Grafonola To-night

One by one the marches and processions of opera stand aside and give the throne seat to the Grand Victory March of Aida. The Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra has recorded this march as never before interpreted before a recording horn. This is but one of the many new musical delights furnished in the most recent supplement of Columbia Double Disc Records.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, October 31, 1894.

Another step was made yesterday in the arrangements for the reception of the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen. The various committees met, received reports from sub-committees and appointed other sub-committees. A staff of men commenced to-day to decorate the Drill Hall for the promenade concert on Saturday evening. Addresses will be presented to Lord and Lady Aberdeen from the city, the Board of Trade, the Sons of Erin and the Scottish Societies. Some of the contractors for the sewers do not seem to be in a very great hurry to remove the earth which is left in the streets after the excavations have been filled in. There are two piles of earth in front of the post office that have been there a week.

for about thirty years, and for the past three years was employed at the Metropolis Hotel. He is survived by relatives in Indiana, and was a member of the Elks Lodge in Port Angeles; a member of the K. of P. Lodge in Burlington, Indiana, also a member of Aerie No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of this city. The remains are reposing at the Sands Funeral Chapel.

At the Jubilee Hospital this morning death occurred of Arthur Dealing Janson, aged thirty-nine years. He was unmarried and a veteran of the Great War and since his return from overseas has been farming at Thetis Island. The funeral will be held from the B. C. Funeral Chapel on Monday at 2.45, with full military honors, proceeding to Christ Church Cathedral where service will be held. Interment will be made at Thetis Island.

The remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Glen Wilson, wife of Alex. Wilson, of 1315 McNair Street, were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery yesterday after-

Well-known Correspondent
Was Also Orient
Bound

Dr. Hsu Un Yuen, head of the Chinese syndicate behind the Commercial and Industrial Bank of China, together with G. L. Stone, of the financial firm of Haydn & Stone, of Boston, A. H. Wiggin, director of the First National Bank of New York, and E. P. Bruce, president of the Pacific Development Company, who represent the United States holders of five million dollars of the ten million dollars capital of the bank, sailed for China last evening. Dr. Hsu has just completed a visit to New York on a financial mission from his government, during which he has been conferring with the United States directors of the banking company and he is taking three financiers back to China as guests to see for themselves conditions in the republic for the development of which the bank has been organized.

Dr. Hsu, who occupies a leading position both financially and politically in China, having been a governor of the Bank of China and a member of the council of the Empire, stated that he had hoped to extend his trip eastward and visit London before returning to China, but that he had received cable advices from Peking, which made it impossible for him to accept the official invitation which he had received through the British minister in China to accept the hospitality of the British Government.

A Great Development.

"Commercial and industrial development on an immense scale will be the leading facts in the immediate future of China," Dr. Hsu says. "Education and communication are the two chief needs of my country and these are the needs to which we will bend our efforts to supply. The building of railways throughout the country, which will give our immense stores of natural products access to the markets of the world, will have to be undertaken and our people must be educated to take advantage of the tremendous opportunities that await them. Textile, iron and steel manufacturers will be developed. During the war several cotton factories started operations in China and we are now arranging to obtain the large quantities of machinery we need from the United States in order to further develop these factories and to establish new ones. Our riches of iron and coal and other minerals mean making our country self-supporting industrially and in a position to provide in the future the material for the further development of the country."

Frazier Hunt.

Frazier Hunt, war correspondent of the Chicago Tribune and its syndicate, whose stories from inside Soviet Russia gave the world the first real accounts of exact conditions inside Bolshevik territory, also left on the steamer and will spend the winter in the Orient studying and writing of conditions there. Later he will visit Siam, India, Persia, Egypt and finish his world trip with a quick survey of the Balkans and the other European countries.

With the signing of the armistice he hurried to North Russia and joined the Allied expedition on the Archangel front. For a time he was with the 68th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, and saw them in one of the most gallant bits of action in the whole history of the expedition.

In the late winter Mr. Hunt left the frozen forests of North Russia and worked his way down to Finland, and from there crossed the border into Red Russia. At this time American soldiers were fighting the Bolsheviks in the North, and Hunt was an enemy in an enemy country. But with determined audacity Hunt boldly went into Petrograd and tackled the Bolshevik officials. Probably the plain sense of the war correspondent bowled them over because Hunt was allowed to remain and permitted to study conditions as they really were. No restraint was placed upon him and he was even permitted to send out his cables the best way that he could.

Two Months Among Bolsheviks.

For two months he remained in that territory, interviewing everyone connected with the Government from Lenin down.

Leaving Petrograd May 1, Mr. Hunt stopped at Paris on his way home and picked up an original copy of the Peace Treaty. At that time the United States Senate was bitterly attacking the President because he would not give them a copy of the treaty. Hunt turned over his copy to the Foreign Relations Committee, which in turn gave it to the Senate.

BAD FOR MARY ANN.

True, there are very few places nowadays to which motor cars are strangers. But in certain remote parts of Cornwall a vehicle propelled by any means other than a horse is still a sight to be wondered at.

Hence, when Septimus McBrown, during the course of his record-breaking trial from Land's End to John O'Groats, pulled up his huge racing car before the door of a wayside inn and demanded breakfast, a crowd of gaping rustics immediately assembled.

"I say, mister," asked one of them at last, addressing the chauffeur, "what drives the car along at such a speed?" "Petrol, my man," replied the chauffeur.

The inquirer pondered for a minute; then: "Ear that, George?" he remarked, nudging his friend. "It's petrol what shoves 'er along!" "Aye," was the reply. "Same stuff as what shoved our Mary Ann through the window, and sent 'er slap-bang agin the barn. 'Er were tryin' to light the fire with it, you know!"

A BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGLY'S HALLOW'EEN.

Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Nurse Jane, have you anything very special to do this evening?" asked Uncle Wiggly of his muskrat lady housekeeper one day, when it was going to be Halloween that night. "No, nothing very special," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Why do you ask?"

"Because the animal boys and girls will be playing all sorts of tricks around our hollow stump bungalow to-night," went on the rabbit gentleman. "They'll put on false faces and hang tick-tacks on the window to try to frighten us. There'll be lighted pumpkin Jack O'Lanterns, and all sorts of things like that. We'll go out to the moving pictures, and leave the bungalow alone."

"Fine!" cried Nurse Jane, making her whiskers curl round the back of her neck. "It will be a Halloween joke on Sammie Littletail, and all the other animal boys who hope to play tricks on us."

"And I have something else in mind," said Uncle Wiggly. "Before we go out I'll take an old hat and coat of mine and an old bonnet and shawl of yours. We'll stuff them with rags, set them in chairs near the table, pull down the curtain, leave a light burning, and the shadows on the curtain will look just as if you and I were still in the bungalow!"

"Better and better!" laughed Nurse Jane, clapping her paws. "So that's what Uncle Wiggly did. After fixing up the stuffed images to look like himself and Nurse Jane, the bunny and the muskrat lady had an early supper and then left for the movies."

"They went by the back way, and across lots, and as all the animal boys and girls were eating their suppers just then, none of them saw Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane go out."

A little later, when it was dark, Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the two squirrel boys, putting on their false faces, and dressing up to look like two rag-a-muffins, whistled for Sammie Littletail in front of the rabbit boy's log house.

"Come on out!" they called to Sammie. "We are going to play Halloween tricks on Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane."

"All right! I'm coming!" answered Sammie. "We'll get Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck, too!"

Soon the four animal boys, with Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog chaps, were sneaking through the dark streets toward the hollow stump bungalow.

"There's Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane now—see their shadows on the curtain!" whispered Johnnie.

"I'll run up and ring their door bell, and we'll put a chalk letter on their stoop. They'll try to pick it up, but it will only be drawn in chalk so they can't get it!" laughed Billie Bushytail.

The chalk letter was drawn on the stoop and then the bungalow door bell was tinkled, while the animal boys hid in the bushes to watch Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane come out to be fooled. But the shadows on the window curtain never moved.

"They knew it's us, and they aren't going to come," whispered Peetie. "I know what let's do!"

"What?" asked Jackie.

"Let's put a tick-tack on their window," went on the other puppy dog boy. So they did this. With a bent pin, a nail and a long string they made a tick-tack and fastened it to the very window through which the shadowy forms of Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane could be seen.

Hidden far off in the bushes, Sammie and his friends pulled the long string. The string wiggled the dangling nail, and it went "tick-tack!" on the window glass. But the shadows on the curtain never moved.

"Something must be wrong," said Jimmie Wibblewobble. And just then his sisters Lulu and Alice came along. The duck girls had on false faces and were dressed up like Thanksgiving turkeys.

"What are you boys doing here?" asked Lulu and Alice.

"Trying to play Halloween tricks on Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane," barked Jackie Bow Wow.

"Pooh! The joke is on you," said Lulu. "We saw them going to the movies early this evening. Those shadows on the curtains must be stuffed things!"

"Oh, what do you know about that?" chattered Billie the squirrel. "Well, come on, we'll play some jokes on Grandfather Goosey Gander."

So, taking the tick-tack with them,

Miss Daisy Lynch, of Saskatoon, and Miss Bessie Lynch, of Ottawa, are guests at the Empress Hotel. They contemplate an extended visit on the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Parker Yarwood have returned to their home in Vancouver, after spending the past week in this city as the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yarwood, 2326 Lee Avenue.

Mrs. R. S. Day, who went over to the mainland to attend the provincial executive meeting of the Women's Council, spent the week-end as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Dundas, at Sapperton.

Lieut.-Col. L. P. O. Tudor and Lieut.-Col. Geo. Pragnell, of Kamloops, who have recently returned from over four years' service overseas, are visiting in the city for a few days as guests at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. A. E. Hodgins is the convener of the arrangements for the silver tea which is to be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Army and Navy Veterans in the Pemberton Building on Wednesday afternoon next. An informal musical programme has been arranged, and tea will be served.

Miss Florence Alexander was the hostess at a farewell party given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alexander on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Mabel Estes, who is leaving shortly to take up her residence in Vancouver. About twenty guests were present, and Miss Estes was presented with numerous gifts testifying to her popularity. The evening was passed enjoyably with games, dancing and music.

At St. John's Church yesterday afternoon the marriage was quietly solemnized by Rev. Canon Hinchliffe of Fred Sargent, 416 Luxton Avenue, late of the 143rd Battalion, C.E.F., and Miss Ada Langford, daughter of W. H. Langford, of Lake Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent left on the afternoon boat for Seattle, where their honeymoon will be spent, and later will make their home in this city.

The decorations at the Lord Jellicoe Hall, November 10, will be on an elaborate scale, especially those in the ballroom where special naval decorative features will be carried out. The grill room, to be used for light refreshments and sitting out, will also be comfortably and tastefully arranged—dancers will find this a very restful resort. The offices of the Navy League are at Room 222, Pemberton Building, where applications for tickets can be made. H. H. Rowley of the Union Bank will also receive applications.

Although to-day marks the date on which he is entitled to retire on a well-earned pension, Victorians generally and frequenters of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeal in particular, will be pleased to learn that James William Bland, the venerable usher at the Courts, has decided to continue his work. Mr. Bland is one of the best-known figures at the Courthouse, where he has been usher for thirty-one years, and his residence in this city dates from 1858. To members of the legal profession he is known familiarly as "Judge." His knowledge of court etiquette and procedure is unrivalled in this province.

Mrs. W. Paget, of Winnipeg, who is spending a few days in the city, gave a private exhibition in the palm court at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon of some of the miniatures she has painted, and which were kindly loaned for the occasion by their possessors. The collection included about twenty miniatures, principally of children. While the artist's work is of generally high standard, it is in the portraying of child subjects that she is at her happiest. Her work is exquisite in detail and elicited the warmest admiration from the privileged few who viewed it yesterday. Among those who attended the exhibition were Lady Barnard, Mrs. John Hope, Miss Dunsmuir, Mrs. Bullen, Mrs. Andrew Wright, Miss Holmes, Mrs. Armstrong, and others. Mrs. Paget is leaving to-night for Vancouver, but will likely return later to give a more extended exhibition of her work.

At "Breadalbane," the minister's residence, on Wednesday evening, a pretty wedding took place, when Capt. the Rev. Dr. Campbell officiated at the marriage of James Hamilton Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell, of Elk Lake, to Miss Florence Gertrude Angell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Angell, of Victoria. The bridegroom was accompanied by James Ernest Speed and the bride was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Marion Victoria Campbell, the bridegroom's sister. The bride was handsomely robed in pale blue poplin and carried a bouquet of white roses, and the bridesmaid wore a smart frock of dark gray poplin, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. After a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in this city, of which Mr. Campbell is a native son, while Mrs. Campbell is a native of Wellington.

I.O.D.E. Chapter's Gift to School—Yesterday afternoon at the Willows School an impressive little ceremony was enacted when the members of the Willows Camp Chapter formally presented to the school the three historical pictures, "The Sailing of the First Transpacific," "The Death of Wolfe," and "Joseph Brant, the Indian Chief." After the regent, Mrs. E. A. Taylor, had briefly addressed the assembled pupils and their teachers, Miss Louise Hayward, the chapter's educational secretary, made the formal presentation. Miss Cooke, the educational secretary of the Municipal Chapter, also spoke a few words on the educational policy of the order. In addition to its work on behalf of the school which it has "adopted" the chapter is doing a splendid work for French relief, and in order to augment its funds will sell holly during the month of December.

"So poor Marie was nearly drowned. How in the world did it happen?" "The vain creature! She wore all of her engagement rings when she went in swimming."

CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT SEX HYGIENE AT HOME

Mrs. Moody Denounces "False Modesty" at Child Welfare Convention

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—"Prudery, false modesty and the double standard of morals maintained for hundreds of years and adhered to until so recently have combined to develop unparalleled social conditions," said Mrs. Irene Moody, chairman of the Vancouver School Board, in an address to women only at yesterday morning's session of the Child Welfare Association in Elks Hall.

The evolution of society had been directed entirely by man and by man-made laws, resulting in overdevelopment in some lines and underdevelopment in others, making an unbalanced condition, with evidences of degeneracy on all sides. By this system, Mrs. Moody showed by statistics, both sexes were exposed to contamination. "If it is any wonder," she said, "that the United States alone is spending over 100 millions a year in keeping alive the insane, imbecile and unfit?"

Attitude of Mind. Relative to modesty, Mrs. Moody claimed that children must be taught that their attitude of mind and mode of living inevitably influenced posterity.

"If mothers do not teach their children what is right, others will teach them what is wrong," she said. "The sex knowledge a child absorbs is either the pure teaching of the home or the impure and false of the streets. Is this latter a good preparation for marriage and the awakening of life of new souls?"

Mrs. Moody issued a grave warning to the parents who allowed their children to roam the streets at night and implored them to make the home the happier place.

Care of Feeble-minded. "The Defective or Feeble-minded Child," was the subject of Wednesday afternoon's session of the convention in Elks Hall, Mr. W. H. Collier, chief probation officers of Vancouver, presiding. The speakers were Mrs. Lindley, school clinician, Rev. A. H. Sovereign and A. A. Lightfoot, of Perth, Australia.

After a review of the possibilities of welfare work, Miss Lindley thought that future prospects were bright. There are three lines along which we must work, said Rev. A. H. Sovereign. We must segregate the sexes; prevent the marriage of the feeble-minded and give most attention to immigration. The speaker gave convincing instances of the danger arising from allowing the mentally deficient to marry.

The cottage system by which the sexes were segregated, and by which many became self-supporting, was the most satisfactory, Mr. Sovereign said. He was glad that the Provincial Government had seen its way to purchase the large tract of land which would form the site of the new industrial school. He had information from Mr. Collier, he remarked, that eighty per cent, of the boys in the present institution were feeble-minded.

Importance of Child Life. Continuing, he paid tribute to the progress Vancouver was making in its care of backward children. The city was, he understood, one of the most progressive in this respect in Canada. He referred to the good work of Miss Lindley, city school clinician, and Mr. Collier of the Detention Home. There was a wide field and a great study in the proper treatment of these unfortunate, Mr. Sovereign added, for they could not be expected to compete with the normally equipped child. Many brilliant men had come from the ranks of the backward child, he asserted.

Industrial resources are the lives of the boys and girls growing up in our midst," said Mr. Sovereign, whose remarks were received with applause. "We are beginning to realize that a nobler citizenship physically and morally must begin with the child, and money being spent on the Y. M. C. A. boys' department and the juvenile court, all speak of an increased attention being given to the welfare of the child," he concluded.

Miss Winn Speaks. Interest in the care of the feeble-minded as an economic question was evidenced in the discussion which followed, led by Miss Bertha Winn, of Victoria. Mr. George Harrison, of the Trades and Labor Council, was answered in the affirmative when he asked if the cause of low mentality could be traced largely to economic conditions. Other questions brought out the assertion that the percentage of feeble-minded Orientals was below that of the white race. Mr. Collier stated that Japanese fathers took great care in the upbringing of their boys. Miss Winn paid a tribute to Vancouver's teachers of the special classes and enlarged on the progress of their work.

The Work in Australia. A. A. Lightfoot, of Perth, Australia, was invited to address the gathering and told his audience that there was a similar welfare movement in Western Australia, with this difference that the care of the child was under the state. There were, however, he said, a number of organizations which assisted the government in sympathetic administration.

Concluding, Mr. Lightfoot said that he would like to see Canada link up with Australia in making progress in the interests of childhood.

Y.W.C.A. TO USE SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

The Young Women's Christian Association have drawn attention to the fact that at their request, the School Board have very kindly opened their splendid gymnasium at the High School, for the benefit of the young women of the city. Classes will be conducted two evenings a week beginning with Monday November 3, at 7:30 p.m. Miss Huntley, physical instructor will confer with these present Monday evening as to whether evening in the week will be most suitable.

The Association has received many requests for gymnasium training lately and the Board of Directors feel that as it is impossible to adequately provide physical recreation in their present quarters that through the kindness of the School Board they will in this way meet the needs of a much larger number. There are many young business women and housekeepers also, who need just such enjoyable exercise to keep them fit and efficient for their work.

Registrations will be received either at the High School or the Y.W.C.A. office.

STORY OF DEATH OF WOMAN UNDER ABSENT TREATMENT

Corner's Jury Brings in Verdict in Case of Mrs. Ferguson

"That deceased came to her death from tuberculosis, aggravated by lack of proper nutrition and medical attention," was the verdict of the coroner's jury to-day on the body of Mrs. Ruth Ferguson, 721 Powderly Avenue. The jury added that the proper authorities should be asked to investigate the physical condition of the thirteen-year-old son, the only surviving member of the family. The inquest was held at the B. C. Funeral Parlors.

Dr. James Grant, who made the post-mortem examination, testified that tuberculosis had caused the death of Mrs. Ferguson. Mrs. Alice McLarin, next door neighbor, told of Mrs. Ferguson's refusal to see a doctor, as she did not believe in them, being a Christian Scientist. Mrs. McLarin had last seen Mrs. Ferguson at noon the day before her death. At 7 o'clock the next morning the boy called from his bedroom window that his mother was dead. Witness said that during the last week of Mrs. Ferguson's illness the latter could not speak above a whisper.

Mrs. C. Wensley, a sister, living at 812 Lampson Street, said that she called on her sister daily. She did not think the illness was serious, as her sister had always claimed she was getting better, though constantly losing weight.

A Strong Believer.
According to witness Mrs. Greenwood, a Christian Scientist, was doing something for her sister, but called only once or twice. Mrs. Wensley said that three weeks ago she suggested calling a doctor, but her sister would not hear of it. Mrs. Ferguson was a strong believer in Christian Science, said witness, and had all the books on the subject. Witness did not think that Mrs. Ferguson had the food she should have had during the summer. The husband had died two years ago. Mrs. Ferguson had had four children, but all had died except Harold, the thirteen-year-old boy. No medical practitioner had attended Mrs. Ferguson during the past year, said witness.

The Boy's Evidence.
How a manly little boy of thirteen tried to support his sick mother on $7.50 a week, was told by Harold Ferguson. The boy said he offered to get his mother what she wanted, but she never asked for anything. He looked after the cooking and general arrangements at home, and as his work was nearly done, he ran home frequently to see how his mother was getting on. For the past week his mother could not eat much, on account of not being able to swallow.

Harold wanted his mother to have a doctor but she would not do so. The boy was in the house once when Mrs. Greenwood came. She did not come often. Finally, yesterday morning witness rose, and found that his mother was dead.

Absent Treatment.
Mrs. Elsie Greenwood, 631 Harbinger Street, said she was a Christian Science practitioner, and takes fees for it.

"What do you give in return for the fees?" asked Coroner Stainer.

"Nothing material, only mental and spiritual help, resulting in physical benefit," was the answer.

"How do you arrange your fees. By the visits?"

"There is no set arrangement about it, but it is all according to circumstances."

"Do you make a regular charge, or is it voluntary?"

"It is usually understood that there is a fee attached to it."

"Did you attend the deceased, Mrs. Ferguson?"

"I called on her, I think it was three times, at her home. The first time about six weeks ago. She said she had been very poorly for some time. She did not look very strong and was coughing."

"Did she ask you to call again?"

"I think she did. She phoned me through her sister."

"Did you do anything for her in the 'absent' way?"

"Yes, when she would 'phone up.' 'Do you make any charges for those?'"

"Sometimes. We do not always charge. I did not expect to charge her."

"Did you charge her anything?"

"No."

"You did not receive anything?"

"No."

Witness said that she saw deceased last about three weeks ago and was there about fifteen or twenty minutes. "She seemed to have plenty of food. I did not inquire about that," said witness.

Questioned by Coroner Stainer, witness said she thought deceased had bronchitis or lung trouble. "I did not think she was going down hill. I think my visits were rather close together and then I did not see her for quite a time. Her sister told me the last time she phoned that deceased was going down hill, that a big change had come over her, and she did not think she would last."

"I suppose you gave her absent treatment in that case?" asked the Coroner. "I did."

How long have you been practicing Christian Science? "Here in the city about sixteen years."

"I suppose you have seen a lot of death and disease in that time?"

"I have not seen such a great number of deaths."

"In case of death I suppose you can certify them as to the cause of death?" "They usually have a physician in attendance."

"I thought that was against your belief?" "Well, if it suits the patients, or sometimes members of the family want a doctor. Deceased had no doctor in attendance lately that I know of."

"Do you know anything about nursing or do you think it is required?" "We think it necessary to have nursing. I did not advise deceased to have it."

"Did you not think she needed one?" "I felt that her sister was in charge of her, and did not like interfering in that way."

"You would not oppose a nurse there?" "Not at all."

"Then you would consider you were in charge of this case?" "Yes, I would."

"Do you know that there are certain cases that are notifiable under the law?" "Yes."

"Do you notify any of them?" "Well, often they have gone through a course of medical attendance before I get to them. If they have not, I attend to it."

"Who to?" "I do not know that I have ever made a report, as I do not consider it necessary."

Coroner Stainer intimated that in view of the serious nature of the evidence adduced in this case there would be something more heard of it in the near future.

CITY DISCUSSES WORK FOR MANY WORKLESS

Labor Men Ask Something Be Done to Tide Over Unemployment

The question of the city starting public works in order to meet the unemployment situation that is threatening the city for the winter months, is being taken up by the City Council at its meeting this afternoon, Mayor Porter announced.

The situation as it is, and what it threatens to be, has been brought to the attention of the Mayor by members of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council, who are attending the meeting of the aldermen.

The labor men say that with the suspension of shipbuilding and the delay in beginning the construction of the Esquimalt drydock a lot of men are in a serious position with the winter weather coming on, and no employment in sight.

"What do you give in return for the fees?" asked Coroner Stainer.

"Nothing material, only mental and spiritual help, resulting in physical benefit," was the answer.

ONE HUNDRED FIRMS NOW ON HONOR LIST EMBLEM CONTEST

Fifty Additions to Hundred Per Cent. Investors Since Yesterday Morning

LOAN OFFICIALS ARE HIGHLY DELIGHTED

Over one hundred firms, stores and households have secured honor emblems in the present loan drive by investing to the limit in bonds.

The announcement was made at noon to-day by George Busby, who, in giving out the fifty additions which have been made to the 100 per cent. list since yesterday morning, declared:

"There is a great deal of interest being shown in the Honor Emblem Competition, to judge by the way people are qualifying for the coveted Prince of Wales Flag."

"One of the most interesting cases is that of the well known firm of Angus Campbell, Ltd., where the firm has arranged to take out Victory Bonds for every person in the firm's employ."

"Terry's two drug stores are on the honor list, and are most enthusiastic supporters of the Victory Loan."

"Yesterday the entire staff of the firm of E. G. Prior came through one hundred per cent."

"The staff of J. M. Whitney & Co., jewelers, were not to be left behind, for they all subscribed to Victory Bonds."

"Cumming & Co. are among the Honor people, with everybody in the race, and the South African Plume Shop, on Yates Street, were determined not to miss the golden opportunity to win the flag."

Following are the additions to the senior list:

Back From England.—W. E. Perry, who was a passenger on the steamship Melita on her last voyage from Liverpool to Montreal, arrived here yesterday. Mr. Perry returns after spending five months with his people in London, England. Mr. Perry was impressed with the magnitude of the war work of the British nation.

SIMPSON, LABOR,
DENIES HE WANTED
CABINET POSITION

Toronto, Oct. 31.—In reply to a challenge yesterday from Brantford by Mayor McBride, the Labor representative who "bolted" from the U. F. O. conference here last Wednesday night, that he would run against James Simpson, in South Brant, if the latter was desirous of getting a seat in the Legislature, as he seemed to be, Mr. Simpson said last night:

"I defy anyone to show where I have in any way endeavored either to secure a position in the new Cabinet or to get a seat."

Mr. Simpson, like Mayor McBride, is a Labor leader.

Halifax, Oct. 31.—Three Japs, Ralph Hogg, Ewart Lyons and Kenneth MacLachlan, of Baring, went to Shag Harbour for the purpose of shooting squirrels and birds. The two former had their rifles with them. Lyons accidentally discharged his rifle, and Hogg, who was about six feet ahead of him, received the full charge of shot in his right leg. He subsequently died.

NEGLECTED COUNTRY
RICH IN RESOURCES

Turkey Possesses Valuable Agricultural, Mining and Waterpower Possibilities

"Now that there is hope of turning aside the horrors of misrule, injustice, deportations, massacres and famines, out of a wonderful past one may construct a vision of a more glorious future for the land of the Turk," says a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society.

The bulletin, based on a communication to the society from William H. Hall, continues:

"The land of Turkey looks out on the present from a historic past that is the study of all ages. Out of that past speaks military power and material wealth, literature and art, philosophy and religion. And that land which to-day lies desolate, with its marvelous natural resources neglected, and its people, who were the glory of the past, repressed by injustice, cruelty and tyranny—that land possesses to-day the same elements that made it the first to develop a modern civilization."

"The same land which once fed and clothed a population of 40,000,000 human beings are waiting today for the plow, the seed and the reaper. The mountains still hold riches of coal and iron and copper. The quarries still have abundance of choice marbles. The rivers are potent with power to turn the wheels of industry. The natural harbors invite the fleets of merchantmen and the river valleys and mountain passes offer natural lines of communication and transportation, as in the days when great caravans passed along these natural highways, bringing the merchandise of the east to the markets of the west."

"The whole land has been lying fallow for centuries—a land that modern exploration reveals as one of the richest in natural resources and as unsurpassed by its geographic location for being the trade centre of the world."

"Exclusive of Arabia, which was never more than nominally under the Ottoman dominion, the Turkish empire embraced about 540,000 square miles of territory at the beginning of the world war. Only about 10,000 square miles of this were in Europe. The Turkish empire was equivalent to the combined areas of the British Isles, France and pre-war Germany. It was larger than all of the area east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers."

"The boundaries were the Black Sea and Caucasus on the north, Egypt on the south, the Aegean and Mediterranean Seas on the west and the Syrian Desert and Persia on the east. Turkey in Europe was almost a negligible area, as the Balkan Wars stripped the Turks of all their European possessions except Constantinople and a narrow territory along the Bosphorus and Dardanelles some forty miles in width; so that when the Turkish empire has been referred to in recent years, Asiatic Turkey was all that the term embraced, except the city of Constantinople and a small amount of adjacent territory."

"Roughly speaking, Turkey was divided into five great provinces, or districts—Anatolia, Armenia, Kurdistan, Mesopotamia and Syria."

THE ONLY NEED.

I've got the girl, I've got the chink, I've got some jugs and dishes; I've got a teapot (plate, I think), I've got a bowl of fishes! I've got a stand for hats and coats, I've got a ripping fender, I've got a pair of gravy boats, And feeling true and tender!

I've got the blessings of my boss, I've prospered in the city; And yet to marry seems impossible. For—'Isn't it a pity?'—I've got these things, but they're no good! And this is why I grouse, sir, I cannot marry, though I would, I haven't got a house, sir!

FIRST AID CLASSES
PROVED THEIR WORTH

Encouraging Reports at Annual Meeting of St. John's Ambulance

Officers and executive of the Victoria branch of the St. John's Ambulance Association were elected last night at the annual meeting as follows: Chairman, A. J. Dallain; vice-chairman, Deputy Chief of Police Thomas Palmer; hon. secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Wallace Grime; executive committee, Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Mrs. Charles Gardiner, J. H. Hill, Dr. M. Raynor, while Messrs. Dallain and Hill were appointed to act as delegates of the Victoria centre at the provincial meetings in Vancouver.

Much Progress

Mr. Dallain presided at the meeting which was held in the Y.M.C.A. building. The secretary, J. H. Hill, in his report gave an encouraging account of the growth of the local association since its formation in 1911. Since that date until the end of September 2,142 men and women had received instruction in first aid and home nursing for women, 1,543 passing the necessary examinations. Thirty-nine classes were held for women, twenty-four for men, while twenty-one classes in home nursing were attended in the period.

A total of 1,329 certificates were granted, while 115 got medallions. In the past year seven classes were held, a total of seventy-eight instructed, of which fifty-eight passed and received awards.

Valuable Assistance

The medical officers who helped in the instruction and examination of the classes since the formation of the local centre are as follows: Drs. W. Tomalin, E. B. Hudson, M. Raynor, A. Price, Donald, Holmes, Perkins, L. F. Houghton, Scott-Moncrieff, Home, Dr. Etta Donovan and several other medical men who assisted in temporary classes. The chairman paid a glowing tribute to the work of the Victoria Central Nursing Division, headed by Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, and all those loyal ladies who helped to nurse the sick in the trying epidemic of Spanish influenza last year. The invaluable services of these ladies, he said, was ample evidence of the value of the work being done by St. John's Ambulance Association in training citizens for the welfare of the community, and their loyalty and devotion to duty will long be remembered by all.

A progressive programme of instructional classes has been mapped out for the coming season, and the association looks forward to a year of record activity. Mixed classes, open to men and women, are to be started immediately, and all those wishing to join are requested to get in touch with Mrs. Wallace Grime, telephone 5696.

Ambulance Attendants

As a result of representations made to the meeting last night it was decided to urge upon the proper authorities the necessity of there being a properly qualified attendant to render first aid attached to any ambulance operating for hire. It was pointed out that this practice prevails in police ambulances, which, in answering an emergency call, are accompanied invariably by an officer duly qualified to render first aid to the injured.

"Over the Bags and the Best o' Luck"

By Capt. Cyril Armbrister, M. C.,
Victory Loan Worker.

A year ago the Canadian Corps was still fighting, and fighting hard. Driving and driving the enemy. The orders were to keep in touch with the enemy, and we marched like the furies in pursuit—to fight like hell—reorganize after the casualties of a scrap—carry on the march to fight again on our nerves alone. A case of "Over the Top" all the time and with the best o' luck too, for we helped, thank God, in no small way to finish the damned old war.

It was the spirit that did it—the spirit of Canada—the morale of the troops was good—good—why it couldn't help being good. We knew we were fighting for a speedy return home to Canada, and we knew our country was true blue behind us with its immense resources as yet hardly touched.

Town after town fell into our hands—starving women and children and old, old men wept with joy to see their liberators, on, ever onwards, till the dramatic climax of taking Mons on Armistice Day capped the proud Canadian record.

Then—the change. The great war was actually over. At once men began to fret—"How soon can we get home?" "We must get home as soon as possible, but how?" All the Anzacs—all the British—all the Yanks want to get back now too—results speak. Canada surpassed itself and did not fall us for within nine months of the armistice the whole Canadian corps was retrained and demobilized except a few medical and administrative units.

"Good work" you say. Well that's obvious, but results are not got for nothing. The cost to Government is some $59,000,000, what with the scale of gratuities authorized to returned soldiers, pensions to the disabled and the necessity of establishing credit for our exports to Great Britain and the Allies, all markets of vital importance to our prosperity, all making insistent demand upon the people that they should invest in the era of prosperity that is surely upon our country.

To go over the top without knowing the reason was often iron to the soul, but we all are going over with the Victory Loan 1919, as we know

Ancient China's Secret

For Preserving WOOD

CENTURIES ago the Chinese built the "Forbidden City"—their pagodas, shrines, tombs and junks; in 1919 A. D., they are still found in a perfect state of preservation. The secret, the oil of a nut grown in Northern China, was at last revealed to the Occidental. To-day, China nut oil is one of two ingredients that has given BAPCO FLOOR VARNISH its incomparable lustre, plus almost unbelievable powers of endurance.

The other ingredient—a fossilized gum found only in the Antipodes, and which after once being combined with China nut oil can never again be affected by water, acid or heat, etc.—has made it possible to test by 20 minutes' boiling, surfaces treated with BAPCO FLOOR VARNISH without the slightest injury.

For All Household Purposes
For your floors, furniture, etc., there's nothing to equal its porcelain-like surface combined with the "wear and tear" resistance. You can buy Bapco Varnish in five colors. Your dealer can get it for you.

that by such means Canada's destiny as a great nation is assured.

Going over the bags with Victory Loan 1919! You're bound to have the best o' luck.

It was announced that there is pressing need for pillowcases, size 23 by 26, and towels. Mrs. Rhodes presided at the meeting, and fifteen members were present. Bills amounting to $429.75 for blankets were passed, and in this connection Mrs. Rhodes drew attention to the urgent need of these supplies, the blankets being already in use and none being kept in reserve. The treasurer announced that dues amounting to $43 had been received for the present year.

What little progress was made by the One Big Union throughout the prairie provinces when the movement was first launched, is hardly discernable now, states A. Farmilo, international organizer for the American Federation of Labor, who has returned to Vancouver. Mr. Farmilo spent time in Victoria on this issue last summer. He has attended the Trades and Labor Congress at Hamilton. In practically all of the industrial centres on the prairies the majority of those who threw in their lot with the new organization have returned to the international unions, who are now stronger than they have been for many years, he says. Throughout Eastern Canada, as well as in the Eastern States, sentiment in the ranks of organized labor is decidedly averse to anything approaching secession from the international cause, the general view held there that the One Big Union is but a passing fad in the minds of some of the more radical workers in the west and will disappear.

GERMAN GUN WILL BE PRIZE IN DRIVE

Trophy Will Be Award for District Largest Investment in Victory Bonds

War trophies are to be awarded as souvenirs of the 1919 Victory Loan competition. A big Boche gun is to be won by some district in British Columbia as a result of the big 1919 Victory Loan drive now on. Through the war trophies Loan committee has arranged that each province in the Dominion shall have a captured German gun to be used as a soft capital prize in the bond-selling contest. British Columbia has been notified that the gun is to be at her disposal, and arrangements are now being completed for the terms of the competition.

Every one of the twenty-three districts in which the province has been divided for the purpose of the loan drive will be in it for a chance to win the big trophy. As the official quota set for each district will be the basis, there is just as good a chance for Cape Mudge, for instance, as for the large cities. The district securing the highest percentage of its official quota will win the gun.

LIFT OFF CORNS WITH FINGERS

Doesn't hurt a bit and costs only few cents

You'll laugh. Apply a few drops then lift sore, touchy corns right off. No pain. No magic.

A few cents buys a tiny bottle of the magic Freezone at any drug store. Apply a few drops of Freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly that troublesome corn or callus stops hurting, then shortly you lift it out, root and all, without any pain, soreness or irritation. These little bottles of Freezone contain just enough to rid the feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes and the calluses on bottom of feet. So easy! So simple. Why wait? No humbug!

O.B.U. MOVEMENT IS NO LONGER STRONG IN PRAIRIE CITIES

Throughout Eastern Canada, as well as in the Eastern States, sentiment in the ranks of organized labor is decidedly averse to anything approaching secession from the international cause, the general view held there that the One Big Union is but a passing fad in the minds of some of the more radical workers in the west and will disappear.

GYPSY SMITH WILL SUPPORT LOAN DRIVE

Will Appeal for Investment in Canada in All His Addresses Here

Gypsy Smith, the world-famous evangelist, who already has made such an impression on the community, has promised the heads of the local Victory Loan drive that he will appeal for support of the Loan in all his addresses during his mission here. Mr. Smith visited the German trenches at the corner of Fort and Government Streets this morning and displayed the greatest interest in the "realism" that the returned soldier bond sellers have achieved with the aid of sand bags, "duck-boards" and various war trophies.

"I am going to talk about the Loan in all my addresses," Mr. Smith assured the boys in khaki. "And I'm going to urge the people to buy their bonds from you boys here at the trenches, the boys who did the work 'over there.'"

The great evangelist is an enthusiastic supporter of the Loan, as was evidenced by his powerful address at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday. Not only has he visited the trenches but he has been over both Loan headquarters, quickly making friends with the whole Loan selling organization.

CHURCHES' TRIBUTE TO GYPSY SMITH

Vancouver Methodists' Send Message of Appreciation to Evangelist

To Gypsy Smith has been forwarded the following resolution adopted at a meeting of ministers and laymen of the Methodist churches of Greater Vancouver, called together in the interests of the Inter-Church Forward Movement of Canada, at which Rev. Albert Moore, D.D., of Toronto, was present. On motion of Rev. W. J. Sippell, D.D., pastor of Mount Pleasant Church, seconded by Rev. (Capt.) J. H. Wright, of Robson Memorial Church, Rev. W. Lashley Hall was requested to put the same in form and forward to Gypsy Smith, the evangelist, now in Victoria:

"Representing the Methodist churches of Greater Vancouver, this gathering of ministers and laymen, meeting at Wesley Church, on Tuesday, October 28, at an informal luncheon, in the interests of the Inter-Church Forward Movement and local organization, desires to place on record its heartfelt appreciation of the visit to Vancouver of Gypsy Smith. "With gratitude to God we acknowledge the signal services of this servant of Christ during his all too brief stay amongst us. For years we waited his coming and his presence has gladdened and inspired. In him we thankfully recognize the succession of those specially raised up by God to carry the gospel to the ends of the earth. With mingled joy and humility we recall the long years of his faithful ministry associated with his name and fame—a ministry alike in its origin, its range and effectiveness, which can only be characterized as apostolic.

"Combined with unfaltering faithfulness, we shall ever recall with delight also the unflinching witness of the messages, proclaiming in story and song the everlasting gospel of the Son of God, in all its power and persuasiveness. With thanksgiving to God we did not fail to note the unaffected simplicity and humility so graciously vouchsafed His servant, so interpretative of the Spirit of Christ. This has won all hearts.

"We can not refrain to say that the visit of Gypsy Smith also makes for the strengthening of the bonds of Empire. The years in the trenches have added another page of glory to the annals of the Christian Church and of the British commonwealth, and the story of those years touches every heart.

"While recognizing that he comes to us in a special capacity, as representing all the churches, we are not deterred from claiming him, in a special sense, as brother. We hail him as a member of the family, an exponent of the selfsame evangel forever associated with the life and work of the founder of Methodism, of which we have been reminded this morning in the brief heart-spoken message of Gypsy Smith himself. With affectionate remembrance we bid Gypsy Smith God-speed."

TWO DECORATIONS PRESENTED TO-DAY FOR BRAVERY IN WAR

An interesting ceremony took place this morning when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Frank Barnard, at his office in the Parliament Buildings, on behalf of the King, presented Nursing-Sister C. M. Mowbray, C.A.M.C., with the Order of the Royal Red Cross, First-Class, and Captain J. C. Aitken, 9th Brigade, with a bar to the Military Cross already received by him.

TWO MILLIONS MORE IN BANK CLEARINGS

The advance in bank clearings for the month of October is nearly two millions over the corresponding month of 1918, the figures being $11,860,501 as compared with $9,878,716 in the month of October, 1918.

Gerhard Heintzman

'Tis a name that half a century of unswerving loyalty to a high ideal has placed in the forefront of the Canadian music industry. For your own satisfaction and protection you should see that this name is on any instrument you purchase—whether it be —A Grand Piano

—A Player-Piano

—An Upright Piano

—A Modern Phonograph

More than fifty years ago Mr. Gerhard Heintzman produced the first piano bearing his name—to-day the product of this master piano builder's genius is to be found in every section of the Dominion and nowhere are the Gerhard Heintzman instruments more appreciated than they are on Vancouver Island.

We have had the pleasure of selling these instruments for many years and know the unusual merits of their construction, musical capabilities and lasting qualities. You are invited to inspect them at this store.

TO GIVE WALKING-STICK TO JELICOE

"White Ensign" Men State Admiral to Be Here November 8-11 Only

Capt. E. H. Martin, C. M. G., Superintendent of the Naval Yard, has received a message from Admiral Lord Jellicoe stating that the distinguished sailor will arrive in Victoria on November 8 and leave on November 11, after which he will return to the city, although his ship is scheduled to return later in the month. Such was the announcement made at a meeting of "White Ensign" men held in the Belmont Building last night, Capt. Martin presiding.

The meeting decided that their testimonial to Admiral Jellicoe should take the form of a gold-mounted walking-stick suitably inscribed, together with an illuminated address. Owing to the shortness of the Admiral's stay in the city and the lengthy programme of public engagements already arranged, the meeting was unable to decide definitely as to the time and place of the presentation.

Capt. Martin was authorized by the meeting to wire to Admiral Jellicoe inviting him to attend an informal reception at the Navy Yard canteen on Saturday evening, November 8. In the event of his engagements not permitting his acceptance, the Admiral will be asked to receive the "white ensign" men on H. M. S. New Zealand on Sunday morning, following church service, when the presentation will be made. Such were the tentative plans made at last night's meeting. Final details concerning the reception and presentation will be announced in these columns as soon as the Admiral's reply is received.

BOUNDARY BAY OIL

Local Resident Speaks of Success of Drilling Operations.

A well-known local resident has just returned from a visit to the oil prospecting plant of the Boundary Bay Oil Company, located at Boundary Bay. He states to The Times that oil was struck at 633 feet, and the drill is now down to 730 feet, with a good flow. He reports about twenty-five barrels a day. Great interest has been shown by residents of the district in the location of oil in the shale at this point.

WANTS INFORMATION.

To the Editor:—I should be glad to know why the city authorities put themselves to the trouble of gathering garbage.

We are informed by the gatherers of garbage, that it is the City Engineer's order that no flower clippings, etc., must be placed in the cans for removal.

As many people, like myself, have only a very limited space for a garden, and no convenience for burning refuse, besides having to obtain a permit from the Fire Chief before making a fire, it simply means that we must set aside a part of our already too small gardens to burn up that which we pay the city to take away, and the citizens are prohibited from availing themselves of that for which they are taxed.

I consider the City Engineer is exceeding his authority, when he undertakes to tell ratepayers what they must, or must not, place in their garbage cans.

As I am not the only one who is astounded by such an arbitrary command, I shall be glad to know if this measure is law according to the "Medes and Persians law" which alters not.

HARVEST IN THE NORTH.
To the Editor:—The enclosed extract from a letter written from Fort Fraser, B. C., date of 28th inst., may be of interest to some, now that the beautiful but little-known country referred to is being more enquired about than formerly. As you would expect, we have had a wonderful harvest; the best and biggest in the history of the country. The weather remained dry and fine, and most of the farmers threshed out of the stock. Potatoes were, however, not so good, as the dry spell caught them before fully grown, and many farmers report light yields.

I attended the Exhibition in Prince George, where the exhibit of vegetables, though small, was excellent—two cabbages weighing 15 lbs. apiece. There were also fine black cherries, and some apples grown near Swede Creek.

Some time I shall be pleased to show you photos of cattle taken in winter at Fraser Lake, which will allow you to judge the quality of the beef stock the country produces.

WHAT HAPPENED.

To the Editor:—Being Deputy Returning Officer for Ward L, section 1, at Sample's Hall last Monday morning, I beg you to allow me to give my version of what happened. Mr. Price is evidently under the impression that I did not arrive at the booth until after 9 a. m.

It was exactly ten minutes past 8 when I entered the booth, and it is just a matter of opinion whether I was late or not. Personally, I do not think I was, because the voting was scheduled to commence at 9 o'clock, which gave me ample time to do any preliminary work that was necessary.

I met the gentleman who was engaged to act as poll clerk for me, who informed me that the Returning Officer had just gone out, but left word that he would return shortly. I expected that all necessary articles would be handed to me personally by some official. After waiting in the poll clerk and two agents I began to search among the tables for anything belonging to the section I was working on, but did not meet with any success.

As 9 o'clock approached I began to get anxious, and left the building to try to get the Returning Officer by telephone, but failed. When I returned the trainmen were waiting to vote and, after explaining the situation, I believe I was agreed to allow them to vote at another table. I left the building a second time to try to get the Returning Officer, and I believe it was owing to this that Mr. Price gets the impression that I was late, or absent.

Soon after returning the second time a gentleman came in who had got "in touch" with the Returning Officer, and stated the papers had been left that morning for me, and must be somewhere in the room. This started another search, and an empty envelope addressed to my section was picked up and handed to me. I then searched among another deputy's list of voters and extracted the one belonging to me. The ward and section were printed on top, and I can only come to the conclusion that this gentleman took my papers by mistake.

After this it was plain sailing, another deputy having a surplus of stamped ballots handed them over to me.

The statement that ballots were lying all over the tables for anyone to pick up is absurd; they were on the table alright, but in front of the deputies. To anyone acquainted with this system of voting it is apparent it would be a difficult matter to use ballots that was not given to the elector by the deputy.

With the exception of this early morning trouble the rest of the day passed along smoothly, the agents of both candidates showing an honest endeavor for fair and square methods.

Oak Bay's Investment in Loan Yet to Be Settled

No action has yet been taken by the Oak Bay Council with regard to an investment in the Victory Loan this year. The subject will probably be taken up at the meeting next week. To-day a "penalty" became enforceable against the taxpayers in the municipality who have not paid their taxes for 1919. This is the first municipality to enforce the clause, made obligatory under the amendment of the Municipal Act last session.

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

The Provincial Hotel, on the Crescent, Nanaimo, was badly gutted by a fire which broke out at 11 o'clock Monday morning, flames shooting up through the roof being the first notice of the fire. The fire, which was caused by a defective chimney, had been burning fully ten minutes before a passerby alarmed the fire department. The firemen did splendid work in keeping the fire from the other buildings in the block, but the building itself is a total loss. Wm. Clements, of Nanaimo, owns the property, which is insured for $2,000 in the Palatine Insurance Company. The hotel is operated by Joseph Evans, whose wife and two children escaped safely. A Japanese shoe repair shop beneath was damaged by water.

Cumberland G. W. V. A.
The Great War Veterans of Cumberland, says The Islander, are experiencing some difficulty in securing the land which has been promised them by the City Council, but through no fault of their own nor that of the civic body.

The difficulty arises from the fact that the city is not allowed to give away land of any description. They can, however, grant a long-term lease. But in order to do this the party to whom they issue the lease must either be a person or an incorporated body. The Great War Veterans of Cumberland are not incorporated and therefore cannot take over the lease, and none of the members wish to have the lease drawn up in their favor.

There are two courses open to the soldiers. One is to form an association under the proper authority which will give them the right to purchase or lease property. The other is to have the lease made out in the name of the provincial command of the G.W.V.A. The latter does not appeal to the local branch members.

The difficulty in the way of securing permanent possession of the land can be overcome, however. The City Council has the power to make grants of money, and the proposition has been advanced that they grant the local branch of the G.W.V.A. a sufficient sum to enable them to purchase outright the land in question. It is stated that the local veterans will form an association, probably a benevolent one, apply to the City Council for a grant of money and then buy the lots on Dunsmuir Avenue. Arrangements are being made with this object in view, and it is expected that before very long the veterans will have a home of their own.

full swing again in this district, which under a unit composed of Parksville, Nanaimo, Qualicum, Erington, Combs and Hilliers, subscribed $50,000 last year. The quotas set for this loan are: Parksville, $10,000; Nanaimo, $12,000; the Qualicum, $5,000, and Erington, $5,000.

Nanaimo's Victory Loan campaign is to be given a boost to-day by Brigadier-General D. M. Ormond, C. M. G., D. S. O., who has consented to address a public meeting under the auspices of the Nanaimo Committee of Canada's Victory Loan, 1919. The meeting will be held in the Opera House and in view of the general experience overseas it promises to be most interesting. In addition to an address by General Ormond, the committee is making arrangements to secure a speaker from Vancouver, who will deal with the Victory Loan and give reasons why it should be supported, in addition to which it is proposed to render a short programme of vocal and instrumental selections.

Good Time Expected.

The arrangements for the Macabees' dance in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Nanaimo, this evening are completed and judging from their character a good time should be had by all who attend to celebrate Halloween there. Lewis Orchestra will play sweet music, while a fine supper will be served, under the auspices of Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Eburn, and soft drinks by Mrs. Forcimmer and assistants.

The decorations which are Halloween in character were arranged under the supervision of Miss Kirkpatrick, who has been ably assisted by other members of the order. Messrs. Kaplan and Kirkpatrick will be floor managers.

Nanaimo Red Cross.

Mrs. F. J. Reynolds, of the Red Cross Society, Nanaimo, has issued a very interesting review of the Society's activities during the past year. The Military Hospital at Qualicum was supplied not only with programmes but also with fruit, vegetables and home baking in a weekly donation. One thousand dollars was given to the new hospital fund for a returned soldiers' ward. The receipts of the annual carnival in September, 1918, were $3,500.66. The outside auxiliaries at Nanaimo, Nanooke, Cedar and Gabriola Island have done well, the latter having raised $800. Two members of the Red Cross gave their lives during the influenza epidemic. Miss Flora Pearson and Miss Grace Gibson, the latter a charter member. The total receipts, from September 30, 1915, to October 1, 1919, were $4,702.35. Of this, $2,100 was paid to headquarters and $250 contributed to Francis Day. The present officers of the society are: President, Mrs. J. P. Davidson; vice-president, Mrs. Kelsey; second vice-president, Mrs. F. Mercer; secretary, Mrs. A. Rowe; corresponding secretary, Miss E. Rogers; treasurer, Miss V. Beckley. The committee consists of Mrs. F. L. Reynolds, Mrs. Randle, Mrs. E. Bogth, Miss Wilcox, Miss Ingham, Mrs. Dendoff, Mrs. Gibbons, Mrs. McFarlane and Mrs. A. Paul.

Road Improvements.

The Nanaimo Automobile Association had a conference Tuesday with W. P. Beavan, district road engineer for the Alberni district, who said that improvements on the Wellington District road would shortly be made.

"THE BRANDING IRON"

"The Branding Iron" is the title of a recent book which introduces into the world of fiction writers a new author, Katherine Newlin Burt. If her first effort be any criterion, then Mrs. Burt should find difficulty in firmly establishing herself on that ladder which leads to fame—and the realm of the "best sellers." "The Branding Iron" is a virile, gripping story of life in the big untamed, spaces of the West where human emotions run the gamut, and where men and women still judge and are judged by the fundamental standards of life. The author has a happy gift of description, evidently based upon personal experience of the country she so graphically—and in picturesque language—describes. The characters she skillfully portrayed and the action brisk throughout. Altogether the book is one of the most promising first efforts of the year, and others from the same pen will doubtless be warmly welcomed by the fiction reading public. Published by Thomas Allen, Toronto.

VICTORY BONDS OR HIGHER TAXES, WHICH?

It has been officially announced that various municipalities, including Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, are prepared to accept Bonds of the Victory Loan in payment of taxes, and this should be very encouraging to the average investor, as action such as this will have the effect of stabilizing the Bonds to the extent that there is conclusive proof that Victory Bonds are regarded as legal tender in the same manner as ordinary currency. Some people seem to have an idea that when they invest in Victory Bonds they are tying up their money so that they cannot use it. This is a great mistake, for the Victory Bond is the most liquid security that it is possible to obtain.

Taxes can be paid with Victory Bonds, they can be turned in on the purchase of automobiles, pianos, victrolas, clothes, in fact very few merchants will object to receiving payment for their goods in Victory Bonds.

The only reflection that can be cast upon the person who disposes of his Bonds for such purposes is that he evidently does not thoroughly realize the value of the Bonds which he is privileged to possess, and when he pays his bills with Victory Bonds he is parting with the very best investment that can possibly be obtained, for the Bonds of the Victory Loan are too fine an asset to be squandered in this careless fashion. When a person sells a Victory Bond he is depreciating the value of one's estate.

DENOUNCES SHAM AND HYPOCRISY IN WORLD'S RELIGION

Gypsy Smith Hurls Stinging Invectives Against "Luke-warm Christianity"

TWO THOUSAND SWAYED BY GREAT EVANGELIST

"My trouble is not with the man on the street, but with the man in the pew, not with the man who makes no profession, but with the man who makes long prayers, not with the woman of pleasure who has no Christ, no God—the human butterfly—but with the woman who takes communion."

"You're playing with religion!" "Does it not concern you that there are people in your family who are not converted? Then you yourself are not converted!" "It's time someone talked to you plainly!"

"The Christian who does not live up to his belief is a powerful instrument in the hands of the devil. The devil likes the lukewarm Christian. The professing Christian who does not follow Christ is a greater hindrance than the man who makes no profession at all."

"What's the good of your profession, your communion, your church-going unless you are following Jesus? The world wants reality. It hates sham, it hates hypocrisy."

"We shall need a picture show to get you to church soon!"—Gypsy Smith at the Armory last night.

In a sharp and pungent address which stung the conscience of every one of his two thousand auditors, the great evangelist, Gypsy Smith, opening his mission at the Armory last night, uttered a denunciation of "lukewarm" Christianity, long prayers without Christlike actions, church going without God-like living, profession without charity and communion without absolute faith in the Son of God. The preacher's harsh sentences where sham and hypocrisy were concerned, followed by soft winning eloquence in his endeavors to lead his hearers back to the religion of the Nazarene, had the audience completely in control, and when he had concluded nearly all stood with bowed heads as a sign of their resolution to lead better lives.

God Will Move City.

Mr. Smith was surrounded on the platform by the pastors of nearly all the local churches and, after Rev. H. S. Osborne had uttered an invocation, he was introduced by Rev. Dr. Clay.

Before commencing his sermon, Mr. Smith led in the singing of a number of hymns and declared "God is going to move this city. I am not going to work for any one sect, any one congregation, I am working for the good of all."

Evil Goes Before Prayer.

Mr. Smith took as the basis of his opening remarks the story of Jesus' healing of the man torn by an evil spirit, and he asserted that meanness, spite, unhappiness and all evil disappeared from men when they came into contact with God—just as evil spirits and bodily maladies fled before the Saviour's prayer and understanding. "But you have lost the joy of God, the spirituality of conversion," the preacher warned the congregation. "When you were first converted you almost exploded with joy, now that a wringing machine couldn't get a 'Praise the Lord' out of you. You have lost your anchor, you are adrift. Denounces Lukewarm Christians.

"My trouble," Mr. Smith pursued, "is not with the man on the street but the men in the pew—not with the man who makes no profession, but with the man who makes long prayers, not with the woman of pleasure who has no Christ, no God—the human butterfly, but with the woman who takes communion. You're playing with religion! Playing! If you were not I would be useless here! If you were not you would see that there were no sufferers, no sinners on this island! Everytime you sin, every time you falter you make the Son of God suffer. Does it not concern you that there are people in your family who are not converted? Then you yourself are not converted. It's time someone talked to you plainly; it's time someone, with Christianity, dared to look you in the face! Do you ever make a dead set to bring unto God, your husband, wife, children, servant, the boy who digs your garden? No? Then there's something wrong. The Christian who does not live up to his beliefs is a powerful instrument in the hands of the devil! The devil likes the lukewarm Christian. The professing Christian who does not follow Christ is a greater hindrance than the man who makes no profession at all."

Church Useless Without Christ.

"What's the good of your profession, your communion, your church going unless you are following Jesus?" the preacher demanded. The world wants reality! It hates sham, it hates hypocrisy. I always knew that, but I knew it more than ever when I lived with the boys over there, the boys who have been against things, the boys who have felt the wind from the other world, the boys who saw their comrades falling right and left, who prayed before they went over the top—those boys see with disgust the can't, the superficiality—they want reality! And the church will never win those boys to the Lord until it can show them real, deep, sincere religion.

Religion Must Be Sincere.

"Do you believe in Jesus as the Lord of the world?" asked the preacher. "If you don't what's the good of your church? It might just as well be burned. It may be a club, an educational centre, a social gathering place—but it's not the church of God, unless you believe that Jesus is his living son. You used to go to church twice on Sunday. Now it's difficult to get you there once. We shall need a picture show to get you there at all soon. Don't you think there's something wrong? If you are going to be a good man, a good woman, you will have to be a praying woman and a praying man! Read the lives of the men who brought continents together in God—made the world pulsate with religion, and you will see that it was done by prayer."

The Gypsy Boy.

"Are you allowing your children to grow up thinking that you are praying men and women?" the evangelist asked. "Because neither you nor they can do anything without prayer. I knew how to pray before I knew how to read the word of God. When I was a small gypsy boy I had a Bible given to me. I carried it always during the day, and I slept close to it at night. Often I would slip away from the caravans in the evening and with my little bare knees buried in the new ploughed earth, I would hold the book before me, often upside down. I wouldn't read, but I looked up to God and prayed that his spirit would enter my soul though I could not understand his written word!"

Many Converted.

Completely mastered by the powerful eloquence of the preacher, the whole congregation bowed itself in silent prayer and, when he demanded how many present were prepared to give their lives to God, few retained their seats, save those who prayed. Old people and little children stood hushed with bowed heads, the ears rolled down the cheeks of many.

AIR FORCE MEN NOT YET SATISFIED

Lt. J. I. Greig, of Vancouver, Secures Concessions From Federal Committee

Lieutenant J. I. Greig, president of the Air Service Association of B. C., returned home this morning after a protracted absence in the East. He left Vancouver some weeks ago for the purpose of making representation in the interests of ex-members of the Royal Air Force before the parliamentary committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the returned men with a view to granting them further gratuity for returned members of the C.E.F. and the re-establishment proposals, as submitted by the G. W. V. A. and others, have been rejected as too costly. However, the Royal Air Force have received a certain amount of satisfaction, inasmuch as the gratuity has now been raised to a C.E.F. basis. Lieut. Greig was successful in securing a grant of $9,000,000 for members of the Royal Air Force and other Imperial units who were resident in Canada before the war, out of the $35,000,000 recommended by parliament for further re-establishment Canadian enlistments, to be used for such organizations as the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

May Force Issue.

Despite these concessions, the Air Service Associations, and members of the Air Force, as well as Imperialists all over Canada, feel much in accord with the majority of members of the C.E.F., that they still have a very strong grievance against the government, states Lieut. Greig. They do not intend to give up the struggle until the government will consent to meet them fairly and squarely with some definite proposal of re-establishment.

"It seems to be the general opinion," said Lieut. Greig, "that the soldiers, by consolidated action, will force the issue with the government before the next session is due, and thereby put the case before the supreme court of Canada, the people."

Established Branches.

After the sittings of the commission were brought to a finish, Lieut. Greig left for Montreal, and there established a branch of the Air Service Association. He also established a second branch in Toronto, where the aims and objects of the league met with hearty support. With these branches incorporated, the association will become known as the Air Service Association of Canada.

Face Peeling Easy—Blonde or Brunette

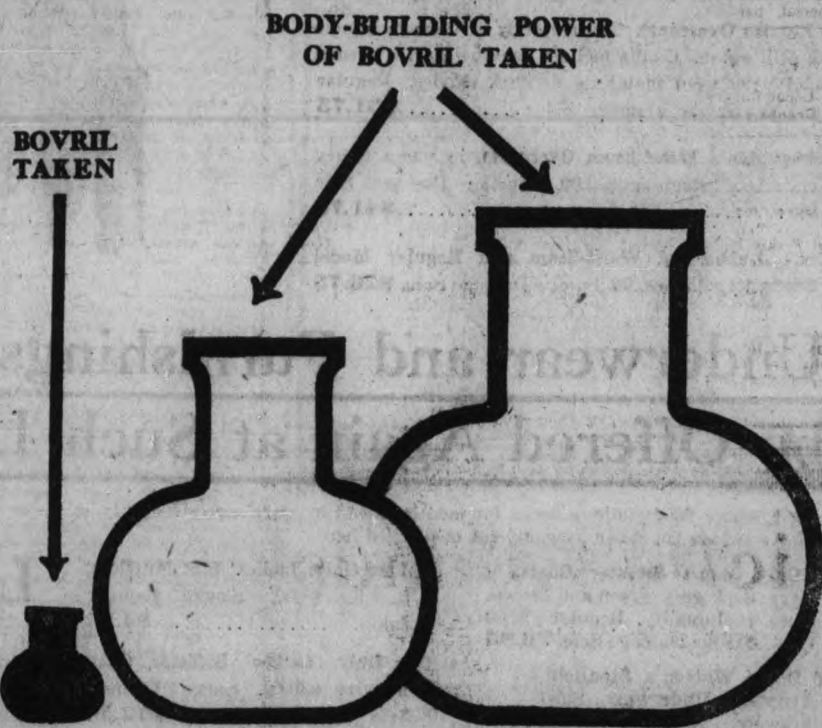

"The blonde's complexion fades early, because her skin is extraordinarily thin, and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavallieri. "The brunette's skin is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance. For either the faded blonde skin or the brunette's oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mucolineed soap used every night. This soap has an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually peels off the skin, and the new skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate under-skin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. The wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream."

Get the Body-Building Power of BOVRIL into your Cookery

IT is a scientific fact that Bovril possesses the wonderful property of making other foods more nourishing.

Just as a spoonful of salt will completely transform the flavour of a soup or entrée, so a spoonful of Bovril will make all the difference to the nourishing value of any dish to which it is added. Bovril is a "key food." Its presence is the secret of success in the best and most up-to-date cookery.

Independent scientific investigation has proved conclusively that the Body-building power of Bovril is 10 to 20 times the amount of Bovril taken. By making the fullest possible use of this power in your cookery, you ensure that every member of your household is properly nourished.

SPOILED EVERYTHING.

The amateur dramatic society had spent many anxious nights in practice and rehearsal, and at length the great evening that was to show their powers arrived. One of the amateurs had found it inconvenient to attend, and his place was taken by an understudy. But, as he was allotted a part with only one sentence, no hitch was anticipated. He was the headman. Arrayed in all the glory of black tights and mask, he strode on to the stage, and folding his arms, exclaimed: "My lord, my lord! I have beheaded the maid!"

"Oh, you have, have you?" returned the local butcher, who was taking the part of the cruel king. "Well, then, allow me to tell you, that you've spoiled the blessed show. You've done it two acts too soon!"—Til-Bits.

A VERY RAW "ROOKY."

New Recruit (to Quartermaster): "Can I have my puttees changed, sir?"

Quartermaster (eyeing puttees): "But your puttees are new—you've only had them a few days. Why do you want them changed?"

New Recruit—"They're too tight, sir."

WATCH THE K. OF C. IS THE WORD AROUND THE SOCCER MEN'S CAMP

Nearby's Men Out to Move Another Step Up League Ladder Saturday — Comrades Have Strengthened Eleven

"Watch the K. of C. Hut" is the word going around the soccer camps. The hutmen hold but a fair position on the league chart, but the way they are traveling at present they look like a championship eleven, and their supporters prophecy that they will in a couple of weeks begin battling for the pinnacle. The eleven which set out for Jack Neary to secure the city trophy is a different combination to that which he now fields, and Jack numbers in his company three of the stars of the game in the city who are well supported by the rest of the eleven. Twice they have suffered defeat, and once they battled even. They have two victories to their credit, and if the word around the K. of C. camp is anything to go by, tomorrow they will make it three straight when they meet the Foundation eleven.

Hard to Beat.
The Foundation men are a speedy crowd to beat and with the North Wards and the G. W. V. A. who lost the top position last week to the North Ward champions, they share league honors with an equal number of points. The Wards' wonderful goal average gives them a slight edge. The feeling of superiority possessed by the Wards is shown by their eagerness to play off the game with the Foundation men, which has been so keenly debated at the league meetings.

Rivals Clash.
To-morrow the Wards meet the Wards at Central Park and although the Wards have hardly got going they are always dangerous. Many fierce battles between the two teams for league honors are recorded in soccer history, and there was never a brace of greater rivalry in the competition than Jack Youson's team and the present league leaders. There is sure to be a big crowd out to see the teams fighting it out at Central Park.

The Comrades are extremely hopeful of taking another jump. With three of the Fragments From France Company, Ltd., to improve the lineup they are looking for better things. They meet the Harbor Marine men and in view of the past performance of the mariners they consider the points already tucked away. The mariners, however, are by no means as weak as their position on the chart would indicate and in the last column the fact must not be lost sight of that one is a defaulted game.

The games billed in both the senior and intermediate leagues are as follows:

Senior League.
Comrades vs. Harbor Marine at Jubilee. Referee, Jones.
Foundation vs. K. of C. at Royal Athletic Park. Referee, Locke.
Yarrows vs. Great War Veterans, upper pitch, Beacon Hill. Referee, Payne.

Intermediate Game.
Army and Navy vs. Yarrows at Work Point. Referee, Oliver.
Metropoles vs. Saanich at Willows. Referee, Thomson.

SENIOR TEAMS.
Teams have been announced as follows:
Yarrows.
Jasper, J. Ord and H. Ord; Mellroy, Roy, Brown, Roberts; Merrifield, Kerley, Prevost and Whitaker. Reserve, Popham.

K. of C. Hut.
To be selected from Shrimpton (goal), Breadner, Shearman (capt.), Wright, G. Allan, Brown, Marshall, Caskie, McKinnon, Craig, Brass, J. Allan and Howden.

Victoria Wards.
Shandley, Copas and Whyte; Okell, MacKay and Campbell; Mulcahy, Peden, James, S. Sheratt and J. Sheratt.

Comrades.
Lomas, Gomm and Davies; Dannel, Bowers and Green; Harper, Walton, Bloom, Bristol and McIlroy. Reserves, Fyvie, Enler and Campbell.

G. W. V. A.
Davis, Kroeger and Allan; McGimpsey, Walters and McMillan; Ackroyd, Dowell, Bartholomew, Kerr and Rough. Reserves, Robbins and Flinton.

Foundation.
Bridges; Chester and Elliott; Mesher, Clegg and Munro; Allan, Speat, Southern, Attell and Coser. Reserve, George. Owing to Fred Kerley being out of town for the week-end, a slight alteration in the team has been found necessary. Allan will take the place of Kerley, while Attwell will make a reappearance at inside left.

INTERMEDIATE TEAMS.
Metropoles.
The following will report at the Metropoles pool rooms at 2 p. m. for their game with the Saanich Rovers: Liddell, Lamphere, Taylor, McGill, Sayville (capt.), Dryborough, Quinn, Barrie, Motion, Ashby and Swinburne. Reserve, White.

Saanich Rovers.
Rhodes; Newman and Brigidon; Scott, Holmes and Campbell; Jackson, Chester, Flinton, Lindquist and Lurnley. Reserves, Nash and Hopkins.

Yarrows.
Ricketts; Panthorpe and Thompson; McKay, Walton and Bendall; Saunders, Roberts, Watt, Panthorpe and Hutchinson.

Army and Navy.

JACK MARSHALL

As a distance event was on the programme last night only one race was possible at the Y. M. C. A. This was the half mile, and the handicapper performed his task so efficiently that several very close finishes resulted.
J. Marshall was scratch man, and swam the fastest race, but two others beat him on handicap. The results were as follows: 1st, J. Marshall; 2nd, C. McFadden; 3rd, J. Marshall.
Next Friday three events will be pulled off, namely, 40-yard polo ball carry, 40-yard sculling hands only 20-yard third method life-saving.

Rugby Men on Edge for the First League Games at Oak Bay Saturday

Four Teams Will Be Seen in Action on Oak Bay Grounds—Wanderers Clash With James Bay Fifteen

Saturday sees the opening gun fired in the race for the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the city rugby championship. Each of the four clubs represented in the competition has had its men out in preparation for the opening date, and the four fifteens that will be in action to-morrow, although they will not be in mid-season's form will be in condition to put up a snappy brand of rugby. With a place on the representative side to fight for and games with California fifteens ahead, the oval ball greyhounds will have every inducement to show their best form throughout the season.

Oak Bay Battlefield.

Oak Bay will be the venue of the league contests each week, and the teams will clash to-morrow at 2.30 as follows:

Wanderers v. James Bay.
V. I. A. v. Great War.

Rivalry Keen.

A tight game is anticipated between the Wanderers and the James Bay. Both are strong in the back division and strong in the forward line and the few times they have been seen in action none of the rugby men are inclined to venture a forecast on the outcome of the game. In D. M. Grant the Wanderers have a capable general at their head; a cool, experienced hand who would lead any side with the necessary championship calibre to certain victory. Boss Johnson, the Wanderers captain, has not yet received his amateur card, so will only be able to watch his men from the side line, and Charlie Vincent will take the leadership. It is expected that the manager, Bob McInnes, has gathered together the finest fifteen athletes that ever represented the Bays.

V. I. Take Chances.

A glance through the V. I. A. A. line up shows them to be a formidable team, and Manager Boyd anticipates no difficulty in turning the trick over the Great War Veterans. The War Veterans will not be in as good condition as the Bays' men as they have not yet had a complete team in action. Last Saturday they were only able to muster seven men, but it is reported they will have a full team in readiness for the first league encounter. The Island Club manager is optimistic in spite of the fact that Billy Wilson, their star centre is out of the line-up. Clarke, McBrady and Randall of the forward line, and McRae, at half, Boyd is living up to his system of giving all prospective players a chance to try out, and although he has dropped the men mentioned to make room for the new lads he has no misgivings.

The V. I. A. A. team will take the field as follows:

Full Back
Tomlin
Three-quarters
Matson Cowan Grubb Staples
Stand-off Half Five-eighths
Smith Huxtable
Scrum Half
Clark
Forwards
Garrard Dunn
Lewis Winsby McRae
Honeychuck Thompson Reserves: Backs, McRae
Forwards, McBrady, Randall
The James Bay fifteen will line up as follows:
Full Back
Ken McDonald
Three-quarters
Clarke Vincent Bendrodt
Gosnell McKinnon
Anderson Hurn
Balcom Travis Sansom Kennedy
Norris Fraser Bennett McIlwrie
Meeting Monday.

A meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union will be held Monday night at 5 o'clock at the K. of C. Hut, when a lot of important business is to be considered.

WINNIPEG BOUTS

Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—Short and sweet were the feature bouts in the opening of the boxing season here to-night. Mike Ertle, the little St. Paul wonder, stopped Ray Burns, of Montana, in the second round of a scheduled twelve-round set-to, while Paulson, of Minneapolis, put Jack Nichols, of St. Paul, to sleep in the second round. Kid Buck, the Winnipeg soldier, won a slugging match from Kid Carter, of St. Paul, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

Picking 'em Up Around the Sport Camps

This was sprung last year but so was the Victory Bond which is an excuse for making it do double turn.

A sportsman walked into the dug-out to buy a Victory Bond. "Say! Are they likely to take my amateur card away for buying a bond off a professional fighter?" he asked as one of the veterans showed him where to write his "John Hancock."

"I'll stand on my dignity" said the presiding genius at a stormy sports meeting recently. "He could stand on the head of a pin when he does that" remarked another sportsman discussing the incident afterwards.

"Show me a man there are no nicks against" said Arthur Manson at the soccer smoker "and I will show you a man that doesn't amount to anything."

Now we like ourselves much better than we ever did before.

"Schoolchildren on strike" read the pessimist from the newspaper. "But 'not wives will be on strike next.' 'Not for long while there are any strikebreakers around" remarked the cheerful bird.

Having heard Andy Hill sing at an amateur soccer meeting here's one vote towards professionalizing him.

"Ducks are having a hard time now" reads a headline. Maybe but if anyone wants a hunting licence untarnished we have one for sale.

A football player went to the praetors for $5 and made a hundred.

coopers harvesting. The return trip cost him a hundred greenbacks of the familiar denomination. "They like to hang on to the people from the Coast" is the philosophic way he puts it.

When he got back he was just in time to shed a tear and place a wreath over the grave of his old team, the Fragments.

A Winnipeg amateur puckchaser has received a wire stating that when the Calgary amateurs divide the gate at the end of the season there should be about $600 for each player.

Probably half a dozen centuries in coin of the realm would not pay some amateur from Winnipeg to make the journey.

The "besom and stanes" artists figure on a time in Vancouver that will make the old country Scotsmen green with envy. There is to be no relying on the climate before the B. C. curlers send a pair of red granite Scotch curling stones along the ice.

A curling rink looks like an assured thing and a number of Victoria men who attend the bonspiel regularly are watching developments with interest.

That was good news that Eddie Oatman will be pivot man and captain of the Aristocrats again although it was expected.

Lester Patrick expects to make a few more pleasantly startling announcements in the next few days.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

A Curling Rink.

Victoria numbers a few curlers in its ranks, most of them from the land of the game and also bowling enthusiasts during the summer months, who are watching with interest the plans for a curling rink on the Mainland. The local men, led by McCosh, did well at the last bonspiel held on the Mainland, and at that time the idea of a rink exclusively for curling found great favor. Six sheets are planned for the proposed curling rink and it is believed that they would be kept busy from the time they were thrown open. There are members enough in sight to make it sure there will be a dividend on the stock of the club, building company and the plan is to provide a sinking fund estimated to retire the stock in ten years.

Another Golf Trophy.

There appears little doubt among the Oak Bay golfers that the men making the trip to Seattle to play the second half of the Briercliffe Wilson game that the Victoria men will prove their right to the trophy for the second year. A lead of 30 points is a nice little margin to have tucked away, but they are so confident in the contingent of Canadians who will invade the Sound city that they do not look to the 30 points lead as a necessary salvation. The Victoria men have already secured one international trophy and have been successful in getting the present trophy for one of the three years necessary to win it outright.

Jem Made a Good Effort.

According to Old Country advice, Jem Driscoll, one-time featherweight champion of the world, who retired from the ring some years ago, went down to defeat in the sixteenth round of a twenty-round bout with Charles Ledoux, bantamweight champion of Europe, in the National Sporting Club. For fifteen rounds the old champion held his own and pummeled the younger man, but his strength suddenly deserted him, and in the sixteenth stanza his seconds tossed in the towel.

Dominion Rugby Title.

R. W. Patterson, of Winnipeg, president of the Western Canadian Rugby Union, has written to the secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, suggesting the formation of a Dominion-wide organization, whereby the Western winners could meet the winners of the East for the football championship of Canada. Mr. Patterson says it is realized in the West that games could not be played this year, but that arrangements might be made for a championship to be held in 1920 or 1921.

Mr. Patterson also suggested that it would be a good idea if all rugby organizations in Canada played under a uniform set of rules. At present in the Western Canadian Rugby Union the games are being played under Canadian Rugby Union rules, which are practically those of the Intercollegiate and Inter-Province.

MANRICO SOLD; WILL BE SENT TO SWEDEN

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 31.—Manrico, 2,07½, winner of the only six-heat fortuity ever trotted over the Lexington Grand Circuit track, was sold to-day by the Walnut Hill Farm to Christian L. Mueller, of Sweden, who will export the young stallion to that country late in November. Three brood mares, two colts, and one yearling were also purchased from various Lexington trotters horsemen and will be shipped with Manrico.

BILLIARDS

In the Two Jacks' billiard league last night Hiberson's team won from Robinson's team by 1192 to 898, the scores being as follows: Robinson, 153; Spencer, 242; Ramsey, 148; Henderson, 250; Eichel, 101. Total, 898.
Hiberson, 250; Kalliton, 250; Murray, 250; Coldwell, 192; Wilkinson, 250. Total, 1192.
The best break of the evening was a 50 by Hiberson.

On Monday evening Ashworth's team will play Hindle's team.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BASKETBALL SOON

Athletic Association Will Arrange for Three Leagues

Basketball plans for the winter were perfected at the annual meeting of the Sunday School Athletic Association held last night. There was an enthusiastic representation of the different Sunday Schools of the city and officers were elected as follows: H. Stanley Young, president; Peter McKennie, vice-president; William Erickson, secretary-treasurer. W. W. Duncan was released from the chairmanship which he has held since 1917 with great regret.

Mr. Young, the newly elected president is a returned officer and like the two other officers elected to the executive positions is an enthusiastic basketball man.

Although plans for basketball only were made at last night's meetings it is planned to continue the activities of the association during the summer months. Intermediate and Senior league games will be played, and it is anticipated that there will be seven or eight intermediate teams lined up for the opening games Wednesday, January 7. Games will be played Wednesday and Saturdays on the Y.M.C.A. court. A ladies league will also be provided for, the games to be played in the First Presbyterian gymnasium.

JUST ROUND THE CORNER.

Black smoke from grim-gaunt chimneys. Steel grey buildings looming high. Dense masses of human beings. Pausing each other by. And it's just around the corner. The red sun sinks in the West. O'er blue-gold crest of waters. Where good ships anchor at rest. Where peace surpassing man's knowledge. Smiles on the face of earth. And it's just around the corner. You'll find what True Life is worth. LAURA LEWIS.

With Field Marshal Allenby in Palestine

SOME PEN PICTURES OF THE ORGANIZER OF A BRILLIANT CAMPAIGN.

By Lowell Thomas, the American War Correspondent in The London Daily Chronicle.

Although it took Field-Marshal Lord Allenby just one year to do what the Crusaders were unable to accomplish in 100 years, nevertheless while carrying out the most brilliantly executed campaign in the annals of military history, he by no means spent all of his time fighting Turks.

One expects a great military leader to be conversant with military tactics and the history of war, but it is a bit extraordinary to find the leader of a great army a bookman and naturalist.

But Lord Allenby probably knows as much as any man living about the powers and wild animals and birds of the Holy Land. He stationed a Yorkshire sergeant at a watering place which migratory birds frequented and whenever a new species arrived the commander-in-chief would forget the cares of his campaign and slip off to the pond to see the bird for himself. He is the type of man who John Burroughs would make a boon companion.

While with your forces in Palestine, I discovered that Allenby was exceptionally popular with the men in the ranks. But I was told everywhere that his Generals got shaky in the knees when in his presence, because if anything went wrong you could hear the deliverer of Jerusalem all the way from Dan to Beersheba.

Soldier and Book-Lover.
Since the Boer war, when he first made his reputation as a great leader, he has been known to his men as "The Bookman" and "The Soldier." He is the type of man who John Burroughs would make a boon companion.

A thousand years from now historians, I believe, will rank Allenby with the names of Joshua, Joshua, Samson, and the other mighty conquerors who have led their hosts across the Plains of Sharon and Armageddon. And I believe they will write his name at the head of the list.

Allenby succeeded where even Napoleon failed. His was a campaign such as all military men have dreamed of, but few have realized. But though essentially a man of war who prefers to wear a uniform made of the same cloth as that worn by his privates, to eat the same food, and to read like a lion, Allenby has another side to his nature. He reads both Greek and Latin fluently, and he carried with him on his campaigns such books as George Adam Smith's Geography of the Holy Land, a Bible Dictionary and, of course, a copy of the Holy Scriptures.

Just after the capture of Jericho, Allenby and the Duke of Connaught took a run down to the edge of the Dead Sea. When they arrived the soldiers were enjoying their noonday siesta, and there were some motor-boats lying out a bit too far, being knocked about by the waves.

The Duke on the Rope.

The C-in-C, angrily ordered them to be pulled in. Both he and the Duke lent a hand. The temperature was about 110 degrees. Both were wringing wet with perspiration, and hardly as comfortable as the soldiers helping them, who were wearing absolutely no clothing. When the job was done, Allenby remarked quietly to one of the boys that it was a pity they couldn't have taken a cinema of His Royal Highness pulling on the rope between two naked Australians.

An hour later, on their way back to Jericho, their car rounded a bend within gunshot of the Turks. Somewhere near the place that Joshua and the Israelites are supposed to have crossed the Jordan on dry land the Rolls-Royce sank up to its hubs in quicksand and salt.

Instead of allowing his men to do it, Allenby insisted on crawling through that slime, scooping out room to lie down under the car, and then, using his enormous hands as shovels, he scooped out the white mud around all four wheels so the Rolls-Royce could be pulled out by his staff captain's car. When he crawled out the conqueror of the Holy Land was absolutely unrecognized and covered with a mass of oozy slime.

The Human Side.

If the occasional ripples which go through my audiences at the Covent Garden Royal Opera House are any barometer of what interests them most, people are far more interested in little stories about the human side of General Allenby than they are in how he turned the Turkish flank at Beersheba, or how he captured Aleppo and cut the Bagdad railway. Allenby, in addressing his troops on August 4, 1918, said his confidence was "based on the justice of our cause and faith in the sustaining help of the Almighty." He had worked out the plans of attack down to the smallest detail, and when his cavalry were at Armageddon he was both confident and playful.

There was an American child at headquarters that morning, and the great General took infinite delight in entertaining her.

When Allenby captured Jerusalem he had accomplished one of the most dramatic feats of all human history. The best that Richard Coeur de Lion could do was to reach the top of Nebi Samwil and get a view of the Holy City. Herr William Hohenzollern, before his bubble burst, showed the world what a buffoon he was by entering Jerusalem on a white charger, dressed in white robes and followed by his resplendent comic opera cavalry.

As everyone knows, when Allenby, the great deliverer, entered the Holy City, he merely walked in with three officers in front of him who occupy a far more prominent position in the official photographs than Allenby himself, whose face is almost hidden. When the Kaiser rode into Jerusalem he went to the German Cathedral and delivered an oration, as if he were the reincarnation of the Apostle Paul. When Allenby entered he stood modestly while another man read his very brief proclamation for him.

How It Felt to Capture Jerusalem.
One day, while having lunch with the Duke of Connaught and Lord Allenby, I asked the Commander-in-Chief what his feelings were when he received news that his men had taken Jerusalem. The City of David, "the city which, more than Athens, more than Rome, taught the nations civic justice, the city which gave her name to the ideal city which men are ever striving to build on earth, the city which gave her name to the city of God which shall one day descend from Heaven—the New Jerusalem."

Allenby replied: "Oh, I guess I felt pretty much the same as you feel when you capture any town."

Lieut.-General Sir Philip Chetwode, who commanded the army corps which captured Jerusalem, one of Allenby's closest friends, his companion through the Boer War, and his second in command during the campaign in the Holy Land, described the deliverer of Palestine to me one day while we were seated in the Kaiser's palace on the Mount of Olives, as "the straightest man who ever drew on a boot."

"Just fancy, Willie, years ago these fields were covered by the sea, and fish were swimming where we stand."

"Yes, papa, here's an empty salmon tin!"

The Mallard
This most cosmopolitan of all ducks provides the keener of sports for the Canadian hunter. Plentiful in the North West, but not so common in the East, it is a strong swimmer and hardy, often remaining all winter near the swift unfrozen streams of the north.

The Mallard, like most river ducks, is a surface feeder, but is also a quick diver. It comes well to decoys, particularly if one or two noisy birds are tethered with the "blocks." Overhead pass shooting of Mallards will put the sportsman to the extreme test.

To enjoy your trip after Mallards go well prepared against wet weather.

GRAND HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL AT Y. M. C. A.

Spooks Will Be Out in Full Force at Association Building To-night

"Yes, we're sure going to have some time in the old 'Y' to-night," said Stanley Young, social and membership secretary of the Y. M. C. A., in talking about the Halloween entertainment which is to be held in the Association building to-night. "Of course this is the spook night of the year and if we were to tell everyone what we planned to do the joy would be taken out of the experience," he continued.

"Without question this will be a unique entertainment. We are asking the ladies to kindly bring one sheet, one mask, one pillowslip and six safety pins and the gentlemen to provide simply a cat's head mask. We make no explanation as to why these articles are required, but invite everyone to come along and find out for themselves. We promise one and all a good time."

Elaborate preparations have been made by the social committee of the Y. M. C. A. At 8:30 o'clock everyone will be asked to don their masks and other paraphernalia and join in a grand march which will start on the second floor, proceed through the gymnasium, to the swimming tank and up to the lobby. A number of weird creatures will give a peculiar demonstration in the swimming tank and in adjoining rooms there will be "The Cave of the Winds" and "The Chamber of Horrors," where everyone is promised a series of thrills.

In the gymnasium there will be a great many interesting and comical side-shows, many of which will be reminiscent of France. There will also be plenty of witches and fortune-tellers.

The building has been beautifully decorated throughout with pumpkins, lanterns and strings of cedar.

The Y. M. C. A. issues a general invitation to the public to participate in the fun.

SAYS CANADIANS

NEVER LOST HEART

Lieut.-Col. Foster Lectures on War; Shows War Photographs

That men such as the Canadians, entirely untrained to war, were able to stand off the Germans for four years, and then turn round and beat them at their own game, was one of the most wonderful things that ever happened in the world according to Lieut.-Col. W. W. Foster, D. S. O., M. C., who lectured at Christ Church Cathedral school room last night.

"No matter what hardship our men had to endure or how big the setback, our men showed no signs of backing down, and it was the man in the ranks and his splendid, indomitable spirit that carried the thing through to its successful finish," said the colonel.

"The early part of 1918 opened up with very great apprehension amongst the higher command about the future. But never in all that time did I find a single instance in the front line of a man who had lost heart. No soldier was ever heard to express any doubt as to the outcome. It was that splendid spirit that made the results what they were."

"When we started in 1915 our machine guns were in the ratio of one for every five hundred men. When we finished in 1918 we had one gun to every twenty men."

"The German came into the war with the wrong idea of what would ultimately make for success; he was quite willing to discard all ordinary ideas of honor. And when defeat stared him in the face he had not the sense of the justice of his cause, the something which would make him put his back to the wall and say: 'we will never be defeated!'"

"Although the number of men we had in the beginning of 1918 was still not greater than that of the Germans, he had shot his bolt, and we had unlimited reserves now on which to draw. Foch struck his blow at Amiens. The results exceeded even expectations. And from Amiens on the Canadians never ceased to fight; they took part in seven out of ten of the big fights. Whenever the Canadians were found in action you always found some of the best German troops opposite them. The Canadians captured 80,000 German prisoners; they met and actually defeated in the field forty-seven German divisions."

Vimy and Passchendaele. Col. Foster went in to the details of the Somme battle, explaining how it was inaugurated to relieve pressure on Verdun, not primarily to achieve a victory itself at the Somme. He also dealt with Vimy and Passchendaele.

"Vimy Ridge in the late war and in other great wars of the past has always been regarded as a position of great military importance," he said. "In assigning the task of taking and holding this part of the line to the Canadian Corps the higher command was paying a great tribute to what the army from this country had done at Ypres and elsewhere. There were more lives lost in one square mile around Vimy than in any other portion of the fighting line, probably, but our end was accomplished. The preparations for the taking of Vimy were complete to the finest detail, so complete that the troops going over actually carried with them signs to put on the German trenches, giving the British names to the old German trenches which were to be taken."

"If Passchendaele fell into the possession of the British the Germans realized they would have to evacuate the whole of their coast line. With this realization the enemy put up a strenuous fight at this point. Over a period of three or four months only very small gains had been made, at a very considerable cost. Then a change of command in the north came about, and one of the first things asked for was that the Canadian Corps might be sent up."

"The results of the first Canadian attack on Bellevue Spur was that it fell into our hands, and eventually the whole of Passchendaele Ridge fell into our possession. That in itself was a great success. Unfortunately the operations of the whole year proved disappointing because we were unable to follow up our success."

The lecture was illustrated with slides made from actual war photographs.

HANGED HIMSELF IN HIS BASEMENT

John C. Smith Commits Rash Deed during Absence of His Family

An unwelcome surprise greeted the relatives of John C. Smith yesterday afternoon when a prolonged search terminated in finding his dead body lying on the floor of the basement with a rope around the neck.

Deceased had been working as a carpenter at the new Armory, and when members of his family returned to their home at 2409 Douglas Street, late in the afternoon and found that he was not at home they thought possibly he was delayed. As time passed and he did not return, a search was made and the son-in-law, Alfred Wesley, while looking through the basement of the house, stumbled across the body of Smith, who was a man of fifty-six years of age.

Mr. Wesley thought that Smith had met with an accident or had been overcome with some sudden illness, went upstairs and telephoned to Dr. Holden, who at once pronounced life extinct.

Through a small pulley in the ceiling Smith ran a piece of clothes line, one end of which was attached to a box filler with cordwood. The other end Smith made into a slipknot and placed around his neck, then threw himself forward upon the floor.

No reason is assigned for the act. Mr. Smith leaves a widow and family, who are at a loss to know what could have induced him to take such a step.

Dr. Stanley, the coroner, has ordered an inquest to be held tomorrow afternoon.

WANT FORMER CIVIC EMPLOYEE TO RUN

City Hall Men Trying to Get Herbert F. Shade to Stand For Council

Employees at the City Hall said to-day that they were making efforts to induce Herbert F. Shade to stand for alderman at the coming municipal elections in January. Mr. Shade is now a broker.

Mr. Shade was plumbing inspector at the City Hall for more than a dozen years, and recently left the city's service, charging that the aldermen failed to keep their promises with regard to increasing salaries of the old employees. Mr. Shade's resignation was the cause of the long discussions that went on at City Hall at the end of last summer, with regard to the payment of city officials. It was claimed that the city through parsimonious treatment was losing its best servants, and replacing them with inexperienced men at the same or nearly the same salaries, rather than increase the salaries of the experienced men to retain them.

Although the City Hall employees say that Mr. Shade in the Council would be able to represent them, they declare that he would be better able to deal efficiently with technical questions that arise than the average alderman because of his long experience on the inside of city affairs, and thus be a most valuable representative of the city at large. It is said that Mr. Shade would have

"CEETEE"

THE PURE WOOL UNDERCLOTHING THAT WILL NOT SHRINK

'CEETEE' underwear is made especially for those who appreciate quality and comfort.

While the first cost is higher than ordinary underwear, the better wear, greater warmth, lighter weight and all-round satisfaction make it much more economical in the long run.

You cannot buy poor 'CEETEE'—it is not made.

The process of manufacture is different and expensive—there is nothing else like it made in Canada—special machinery—specially trained operators—each garment with individuality.

Only the very finest, safest and cleanest Australian Merino wool is used—so soft that a baby can wear it.

There are no seams—as the garments are made with a selvedge and the joins are knitted together—not sewn as in ordinary garments.

Each 'CEETEE' garment is knit, not cut, to fit the body.

Each 'CEETEE' garment goes through our special secret process, making it absolutely unshrinkable.

As a matter of fact, 'CEETEE' is better than imported, it is in a class by itself—without competition and is superlative.

Made in all sizes for Men, Women and Children—in Union Suits or Separate Garments.

EMPLOYERS OF LABOR WILL NOT SUFFER IN FINANCING EMPLOYEES

The banks of Canada have agreed that it is in the interest of the country that employees be enabled to obtain Victory Bonds upon the easiest possible terms, and have therefore arranged that where an employer of labor undertakes to finance his employees in their purchase of Victory Bonds, the banks will advance the money upon the security of the bonds, thus giving the employee time to purchase his bonds upon a longer term than would be possible were he to attempt to finance himself.

The banks have also agreed to regard this transaction as having no bearing upon the ordinary business credits of such firm, so that there is no favor granted as between employer and employee nor between employer and bank. The matter is a purely business arrangement, advantageous to all parties concerned, and none should hesitate to take the very fullest advantage of it and buy to the limit.

It should be always borne in mind that buying bonds cannot possibly break the investor, for should he not be able to complete his payments he can dispose of his bonds instantly, and possibly at a profit, if the experience with earlier issues is any criterion.

EXCHANGE NO ROBBERY.

Two business friends who lived in the country met one day, and one invited the other to dine with him that evening.

At the appointed time the guest set forth in the direction of his friend's house, and as the roads in his village were somewhat dimly lighted he took with him an old-fashioned stableman's lantern.

The dinner was good, the wine excellent, and all went merrily.

The next morning, however, he received the following note from his host of the night before: "Dear Old Man,—I am sending my man over to you with this note, and he brings with him your lantern. If you have quite finished with my parrot and cage I shall be awfully glad if you will return same per bearer."—TIT-BITS.

WHO IS SHE?
DO YOU KNOW HER?

The Story of the Most Remarkable Woman in the World

(From The Evening Telegram, New York.)

Time differs as between cities, but, waiting that detail—

This woman, wondrously beautiful, to-night steps from her motor into the entrance of the Ritz or Savoy in London accompanied by one of the most desirable men that society can offer.

Again, this afternoon, this same woman is having tea on the veranda at Shepherd's in Cairo, and measuring with her inscrutable Mona Lisa eyes the country and the people to be found at the gateway of the Garden of Allah.

To-night, too, she is at the Cafe de Paris.

She is dancing at the Cliff House in San Francisco, or racing up the ocean boulevard in Los Angeles to keep a dinner engagement at the Alexandria.

IN EVERY CITY, IN EVERY SMART SHOP IN THE WORLD, all of you SEE HER; this same, unexplainable woman.

At the masseur's, at the perfumer's or the broker's—THERE SHE IS, AND YOU CANNOT ESCAPE HER.

She is EVERYWHERE.

She is rich. She is poor. She has everything except honor or she has nothing minus honor. She is somebody's runaway daughter, or some man's abused wife. She is a BIRD OF PARADISE, leaving some haven of discontent and BOUND FOR THE PASSAGE OF GOD KNOWS WHERE. She beguiles, allures, or depresses the gambler and the diplomat. In ALL lands, and in ALL times she has marched along the social fringe of things, bedecked or bedraggled.

You cannot deny her. You cannot escape her. She is "THE ETERNAL MAGDALENE."

"Prunella," "The Seven Swans" and others, has of late been playing a different style of role. Her recent productions have been comedies and her latest picture, "Girls," which will be shown at the Dominion again to-day, is said to be one of the best of this nature she has yet produced. It is an adaptation of the famous play by Clyde Fitch, the late American dramatist, and is a veritable riot of comedy. On the same programme is shown the Victory Loan film, "His Will Be Done," featuring Wallace Reid, a Chester Outing picture and a lively comedy.

"Billy's Little Love Affair," one of the cleverest and wittiest comedies ever written will be produced by an excellent company under Mr. R. N. Hincks' management, for the first time this evening at the above theatre.

Snappy, bright and clever, with well-conceived humor, running throughout, it is bound to prove one of the most popular attractions that the Princess Dramatic Society has ever staged.

Miss Eva Hart in the title role and Capt. Hendy, the other principal, are assisted by a most excellent company, and as the plot which runs throughout the play is entirely different from any thing previously produced at the above theatre, a most enjoyable evening's entertainment is assured.

The comedy ventriloquist, W. E. Whittle, introduces as one of the turns on this week's bill of Pantages vaudeville many new features into one of the old standbys of the variety stage. He is very clever in his line, and uses a good variety of dolls for his work. He not only does the more or less familiar trick of drinking while one of his mediums is "talking," but concludes his number by playing the cornet and singing at the same time. This is a decidedly new angle to the work and makes a distinct feature of the programme.

The headline act of the bill is the presentation by Felix Patti of the "most human" monkey ever presented from the stage. Tarzan not only is able to give a very acceptable imitation of all the athletic tricks his trainer does but he introduces a great deal of hilarious comedy into his actions. The act is a pronounced hit with audiences. The special added attraction for the week is the offering of the K. T. Kuma company of oriental mystics. The other three acts of the programme are of equal interest.

The lady district visitor was trying to get friendly with little Johnny. "Do you think your mummy would let me buy you, Johnny?" she asked. "Buy a what—An air-gun?" asked Johnny, quickly.

"No! No!" laughed the district visitor. "Would she 't me buy you from her and take you away with me?"

"She might!" replied Johnny. "But I'm afraid you haven't got enough money!"

"Why, how much would it take?" asked the lady.

"A thousand pounds!" promptly answered Johnny.

"Oh—but that seems an awful lot of money!" expostulated the lady. "Are you quite sure you're worth as much as that?"

"Well, p'raps not!" admitted Johnny, "but you see, there's six of us, and if mummy sold me it'd break the set!"

UPS AND DOWNS.
Mother: "Did you call Edith up this morning?"

Daughter: "Yes, but she wasn't down."

"But why didn't you call her down?"

"Because she wasn't up."

"Then call her up now, and call her down for not being down when you called her up."

LOAN CHOR WILL SING BOND SONGS

Specially Composed Ditties Will Keep Up Spirit of Drive

Songs that will keep the splendid spirit of the Victory Loan organization at a high pitch during the whole of the present drive, songs that reflect the confidence of entire success that is shared by members of the organization, will be sung on all occasions when loan officers meet from now on. A Victory choir under the leadership of J. B. Warnicker has been formed and already is busy practicing a number of attractive ditties composed by Publicity Chairman E. J. Down, and set to popular tunes.

The choir will perform every day at noon, beginning on Monday, when the whole loan organization lunches together at the Government Street headquarters, and will be present to-morrow night at the big Yates Street dance. Following are some of Mr. Down's songs which were sung with great enthusiasm at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday by hundreds of staid business men, including Hon. S. F. Tolmie and the famous evangelist, Gypsy Smith:

(Tune: "John Brown's Body.")
Now Victoria has a reputation to uphold. For she sent her men to fight and parted with her gold.

Once again the call has come to all, both young and old. To help the Victory Loan.

Everybody young and pretty. Old or ugly, dull or witty. In this patriotic city. Must help the Victory Loan.

We've received a challenge from Vancouver—strange to say. She has made a wager that her citizens will pay Better than Victoria's. So start right in to-day. To take the spoils away.

Chorus.
If our lads could bravely face the dangers o'er the sea. Surely we can do our bit and do it graciously.

Everyone must help to gain the final Victory. And so we all agree.

Chorus.
(Tune: "Smile! Smile! Smile!")
Put all your dollars in the Victory Loan. And smile! Smile! Smile!

Buy Bonds and hear the Bolsheviks moan. Surely it's worth while. Now our lads have kicked the Hun And made him change his style.

Just help them by working for the Victory Loan. And SMILE! SMILE! SMILE!

(Tune: "Till We Meet Again.")
You don't need to bid a sad adieu To your dollars, many or a few. For the money will seem more blue.

If you'll buy some bonds, my dearie. You can place your money in our stocks. Buy some shares, or put it into stocks. But with Bonds you're safe as rocks.

Till we meet again.
(Tune: "Bubbles.")
Everybody's saving money. Saving money everywhere. Let's tell you why: Though things are high, Victory Bonds are good to buy.

Pat all you can spare. Then you will be saving money. Like they're doing everywhere.

(Tune: "Clementine.")
No Victorian ever hurried— So they say—and rarely runs. You couldn't beat those boys of Currie's When it came to chasing Huns.

Though the boys have done the fighting And the victory is won, There are things that still need righting. You can help it to be done.

VERSATILE GENIUS ON ORPHEUM BILL

Gertrude Hoffman Will Be at the Royal Victoria To-night

Gertrude Hoffman, who comes to the Royal Victoria to-night and to-morrow with a Saturday matinee as headline attraction on the bill of Orpheum vaudeville, is indeed vaudeville's versatile genius. Vaudeville is a kaleidoscopic line of amusement and the variety of Miss Hoffman's achievements seem wide and inexhaustible. In fact she occupies a class by herself. She does any number of things better than most artists and she does so many things that she would be quite capable of giving a whole vaudeville show by herself. She was the first to present "Salome" and "Mendelssohn's Spring Song." She was the first to head a company of classical dancers. She has won fame as an impersonator. Her greatest merit perhaps was her unswerving desire for accomplishment. One day Miss Hoffman presented a review and much to the surprise of everybody she proved she could do a dozen or more things that lead toward the goal of entertainment. This year she comes here in a series of dances and impersonations with special stage settings and an augmented orchestra under the direction of Max Hoffman.

With a scene depicting the interior of a hand laundry and a comedy playlet called "The Tale of a Shirt" Erwin and Jane Connely, will add to the spice of this week's bill. The playlet is described as a comedy of laundry life and is a delightful and perfect blend of sentiment, romance and humor.

Frankie Wood and Buncie Wyde in a satire of Greenwich Village will offer a humorous line of conversation enhanced in songs and dances. Miss Wyde is a handsome blonde with a pleasing voice while Mr. Wood is a comedian of genuine merit.

"The Smile Girl," otherwise Claude Coleman in "Feminine Types," is an artist in impersonation. Miss Coleman does not seek to exaggerate only the present vividly the mannerisms of familiar characters. Miss Coleman is hailed as an artist of rare ability, and is a favorite everywhere she has appeared this season.

"A Merry Moment" is a precious gem. Sam Green and Helen Myra give twelve such precious gems to offer. A famous leader of men once said that when he sent a man on an important mission he always tried to send him smiling, then he knew he would succeed. This famous man needed the arts of Sam Green and Helen Myra.

LAW AND THE LAUNDRY.
Laundry marks vary greatly in Europe. Those used in this country consist of certain small letters or figures stamped in red thread.

In some parts of France linen is decorated by having the whole name and address of the laundry stamped upon it, and an additional geometrical design to indicate the owner.

In Batavia every piece has a number stamped on it in large characters. In other parts of Germany a small cotton label is attached by means of a hot waterproof adhesive. In Bulgaria each laundry has a large number of stamps engraved with designs, and in Russia the laundries mark linen with threads worked in arrow shapes.

In some Russian towns the police periodically issue regulations for laundries, while in Odessa books of marks are furnished annually to the laundry proprietors, and these marks and to others may be used. By this system criminals and revolutionary agitators are often traced.—Tit-Bits.

LIMPS BACK FROM SEA IN DISTRESS

French Steamer Schinneck, Lumber-laden, Has Two Feet of Water

With two feet of water in her hold the French steamer Schinneck, product of one of the Vancouver shipyards, limped back to port last night and tied up at the outer docks at ten o'clock. The Schinneck rolled rather nastily off Cape Flattery yesterday and shipped a great deal of water. When it was found that the water was gaining in the hold and the pumps refused to work the captain decided to return to port. An examination was held this morning and it was discovered that the pumps had been clogged by chips, which had fallen into the bilges. Minor defects in the engine room will require attention before the steamer is ready to put to sea.

Full of Lumber. The Schinneck is one of the "C" class ships. She loaded a cargo of lumber on the mainland for the United Kingdom and arrived off here on Wednesday morning to drop her pilot. She proceeded to sea, but the big seas off the cape gave the little craft a bad shaking about.

The steamers built by the Foundation Company seem to be the only wooden vessels built on this coast which have failed to give trouble when they get in a big sea off the Washington and Oregon coast. The vessels built for the Imperial Maritime Board kept the marine engines in wild despair during their passages. Some took fire and others were badly damaged by storms. Many of the French steamers of the "C" class are having a merry time in getting over to France.

WEST COAST SALMON RUN HAS BEEN GOOD

Fishery Inspector Cunningham Gives Good Account of Fishing Operations

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—"In Barkley Sound and in Clayoquot Sound, in fact in all the waters along the west coast of Vancouver Island the run of salmon has been good this season, and, judging from the quantities waiting to proceed to the spawning grounds, the same should be well seeded this year."

So spoke Lieut.-Col. Cunningham, chief inspector of the Dominion fisheries for British Columbia, who returned yesterday to Vancouver from an examination of the fishery areas in that district.

"It was absolutely necessary in the interests of conservation to stop fishing generally throughout the province at an earlier date than usual," he explained, "owing to the fact of there having been a very light rainfall this season, and the water in the streams being too low to permit the salmon to ascend to their spawning grounds. The fish are now hovering around the mouths of the creeks waiting for the rain, and when this comes they will immediately disappear to the upper waters."

Dog Salmon Is Good

"Dog salmon is a species caught in the waters of the west coast," the Colonel went on, "and they are perhaps as fine a quality as can be found on the British Columbia coast. The dog salmon are a very nutritious fish, and whilst they are lacking in color compared with other species of the salmon family, they deserve a better reputation on the market than they are receiving. If the public would overlook the question of color and would try canned chums, as they are known on the market, the consumption of this class of salmon would be greatly increased all over Canada."

Discussing the salmon fishing in more detail, Colonel Cunningham said: "The area for seining licenses on the west coast of Vancouver Island extends from Cape Beale to Sombrio Point and from Beachy Head to the south end of Sidney Island. Most of the operations, however, are conducted between Cape Beale and Sombrio Point, opposite Nitinat Arm and Clo-oose. Fishing takes place where the fish are running, sometimes close to shore, at other times out at sea."

Returned Men Fishing

"Twenty-nine licenses are being operated there this year," he continued. "Fifteen by returned soldiers and the remainder by the licensees of 1918. The season has not yet ended, consequently it is impossible to give the exact numbers of fish caught, but the indications are that, whilst the total number so caught will not be as great as last season, still in the aggregate, the catch will be large."

"The catch per boat will not be as large as in previous years," he added, "owing to the fact that a greater number of boats are operating. Also many of the fishermen had no previous experience on the west coast, which is the hardest place in which to fish, because it is open to the sea."

"Climatic conditions govern operations to a great extent," he said, "as it is only on fine days that seining fishing can be conducted. A number of the boats ceased operating for the season on Wednesday, and doubtless of those remaining, the fishermen have had previous experience and are accustomed to the rough conditions experienced at this season of the year."

WOODEN SHIPS SELLING AT VERY LOW PRICE

Seattle, Oct. 31.—Uncompleted wooden hulls, belonging to the United States Shipping Board, may be sold at less than $70 a deadweight ton, according to a telegram received here from the Philadelphia office of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

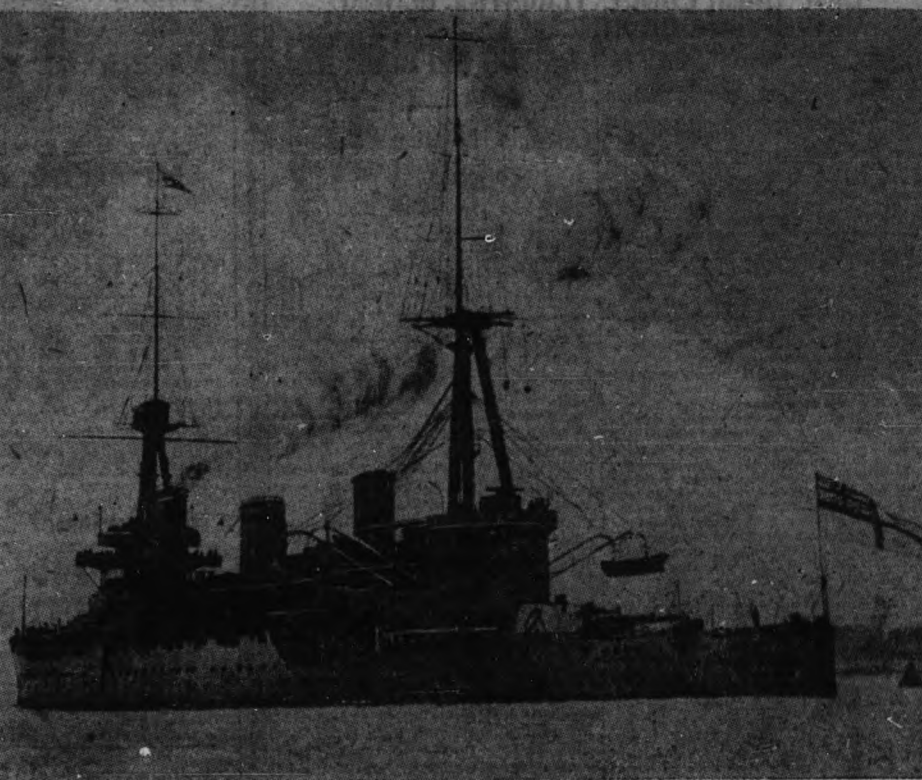

About fifty hulls are moored in Lake Union here. Others are at Alameda, Cal., and Portland, Ore. Arrangements can be made for time payments. It was said. Engines and other equipment necessary to complete the vessels will be sold "on an equal basis to all," by the Government.

PRINCESS MAY HAS COMPLETED PASSAGE

Local Steamer Reached New York Yesterday, Forty-five Days Out

Word was received this morning that the steamer Princess May, formerly a popular Alaskan trader, arrived at New York yesterday morning. The steamer left Victoria on September 15, and made the trip to the Atlantic through the Panama Canal and Cuba.

The Princess May was purchased by the D. Giorgio Co. for service in the banana trade, between the Bermudas and New York. Extensive alterations to the vessel's interior were executed at Yarrows' yards. Close on to $70,000 was expended on the work.

Capt. Stratford, a well-known local navigator, took the Princess May around to New York, and will return to Victoria as soon as the vessel is taken over.

The Princess May will very shortly commence her new service. The vessel has had a very interesting career. She arrived here many years ago from China, and when alterations were carried out on her she was considered one of the most palatial craft on this coast. For many years she operated between here and Alaska, and before the appearance of the larger C. P. R. steamers she was considered "the class of the run."

CANNOT SEND MORE COAL ACROSS BORDER

Vancouver Island Mines Will Be Unable to Keep Seattle Home-fires Burning

If the coal strike in the United States developed into a prolonged struggle and the Puget Sound and California cities are confronted with a shortage of black-nuggets, they will be unable to look upon the mines on Vancouver Island as a source from which to replenish the coal bins. According to the announcement of the leading coal companies on the Island the demand in British Columbia at present is almost in excess of the output.

J. M. Savage, general manager of the Canadian Collieries, Ltd., stated this morning that the people of the other side of the line could hope for no assistance from his company. The company mines are working full time and are hardly able to fulfil orders.

"We will look after the people of British Columbia first," said Mr. Savage.

"W. A. Webb, of the Canadian Western Fuel Company, which operates the mines at Nanaimo, said yesterday that Seattle could not hope for any further coal shipments than she is now receiving. He stated that the demand at present is so heavy that no more can be supplied.

The bunkering of steamships running out of Puget Sound ports will not be affected very much. Most of the vessels call at Nanaimo for coal. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha and Osaka Shosen Kaisha ships will be able to receive bunkers coal from Sound bunkers, which are filled from the local mines.

UNITE TO FIGHT FOR MORE STEAM VESSELS

Pacific Coast Ports in U. S. Will Work Hard to Expand Their Trade

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—The conference of representatives of chambers of commerce of six Pacific coast ports—Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego—which has been in session here discussing plans for the securing of additional vessels for trade in Pacific adjoined yesterday after adopting a programme of action.

The programme calls for the sending of a delegation from each of the coast ports to Washington to meet there December 1 for a conference with the shipping board which it is proposed to hold December 4. At that time the need of more ships for this coast will be impressed upon the government officials and a strenuous effort will be made to have additional tonnage allocated to this territory.

It was recommended that each port prepare a specific plan for the advancement of trade and that compile a review of present and prospective business and it was also recommended that a delegation from Pacific Coast visit the Far East, South America and Australasia in the future to develop trade and new ship lines.

Pacific Coast to Unite.

A programme calling for the unification of the whole Pacific coast in efforts to secure from the United States shipping board an equalization of freight and passenger ship allocations between the Atlantic and the Pacific coast was adopted at the meeting yesterday, at which representatives of Chambers of Commerce in Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, were present.

The programme called specifically for a coast representation in Washington for a period of three months to work for desired allocations of ships, and for a distribution of vessels that would take care not only of present needs, but of projected trade plans on the Pacific.

R. C. Lowe Asks Suspended Sentence for Melba Blaney, Who Stole Coat

Evidence in the case of Melba Blaney, charged with stealing a fur coat from Mrs. Mounce, was concluded in the Police Court this afternoon. The Magistrate so far has delivered no judgment, but following a private interview with the girl, he will determine whether to ask the Attorney-General to grant suspended sentence or not.

Appearing for the defence, R. C. Lowe threw himself on the mercy of the court. He explained that his client had gone to a dance at the Alexandra Club given by the I. O. D. E. recently in a rather excited state of mind because she had expected to be accompanied by a young man, who, however, failed to turn up. This excitement helped to make her irresponsible for her actions. Mr. Lowe told the Court also that accused had six brothers who had been to the front. In their absence she had not received the same proper care that they would have given her. Restitution to the value of the coat, Mr. Lowe stated, had been made for the garment itself was badly torn and altered by the girl in an attempt to escape the police. Under the circumstances

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

That work on the Babine Bonanza property in the Babine is to be resumed immediately and that operations will continue throughout the winter is the good news reaching Smithers this week, the information being contained in a wire from Mr. Cronin, who has been in Spokane for the past few weeks in connection with this and other mining operations. Mr. Cronin in the wire included instructions to procure all supplies and to arrange for the pack team to take the material to the mine. His son, John Cronin, has been busy in this connection during the past few days. It is expected that the working force and outfit will reach the mine early in the coming week and work on the long tunnel, which cuts two veins en route to tapping the big contact vein at 1,000 feet, will be started at once and will continue until completed. This tunnel is now in about three hundred feet.

Riondel Development.

W. T. Kirby, of Winnipeg, has decided that the group that bears his name at Riondel, is worth developing, and a syndicate has been organized to effect this object. This group, known as the Kirby, was located last spring by A. J. Curie, of Kalso, near the lake shore, about the same time that E. D. Hearn and D. L. Eastman staked the Phyllis and Gwendolyn, further back. July produced very fine showings on both groups, the interesting point being that the ore was quite different from the characteristic ore of the Blue Bell, being high in silver, says the Nelson News.

Since July, an open cut has been made on the vein of the Kirby, cross cutting it, 17 feet having been driven without showing up the footwall. In the milling ore is a five-inch width of galena, which runs over 100 ounces of silver and a high percentage in lead.

Nugget Mines.

The discovery of the new vein of ore, showing values and similar in size and appearance to the five existing veins, is reported from the Nugget properties on Sheep Creek by R. H. Stewart, mining engineer in charge of development work there.

In the course of operations designed to develop the Motherlode and Nugget properties, a tunnel some twelve hundred feet long is being driven from the Motherlode side of the hill through to the Nugget veins which are on the reverse slope. It was expected to strike the first, or apex vein, at about nine hundred feet, but at 830 feet a totally new vein, of very encouraging appearance, was pierced by the tunnellers. Mr. Stewart's opinion of this vein is that it will be quite as valuable as any of the five existing Nugget veins. Samples for assay have been secured, and are now awaiting results.

The five existing Nugget veins which have combined with the Motherlode and Searchlight groups of claims in producing to date over one million dollars in gold will probably be generated by the tunnellers within a couple of months. It will then be possible to handle the ore output of these claims in a very economical manner, namely, by bringing all ore back through the tunnel, and shipping by aerial tramway to the up-to-date mill which is already established on the Motherlode property.

So encouraging have been Mr. Stewart's reports and so excellent the results already obtained from development work that other properties of the vicinity of Nugget, Motherlode and Searchlight groups, are being considered for possible development. Notable among these are the Reno, which is only a few miles from the Motherlode mill with fairly good trail communication.

A Big Concentrator.

Designed to treat the ores of the Rossland camp by a process that has been worked, elaborated, and tested for some months, on a scale of 280 tons daily at the Trail test concentrator, the big concentrator which the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada will erect at Rossland or Trail will be the very latest thing in America in its line, according to information from Rossland.

The big plant, which will involve an outlay of $1,000,000, will have an area of an acre, roughly speaking. The buildings, it is understood, will probably be of steel, with steel and glass windows, gunnite walls, and concrete floors. The capacity will be 1,500 tons per day.

Whether the concentrator will go to Rossland or Trail depends on the ability of the city of Rossland to provide sufficient water, and on whether the company can secure sufficient ground for tailings disposal. If these two conditions are satisfied, the big plant will be built at Rossland. Otherwise, Trail will get it.

The preliminary crushing plant will be put in in conjunction with the Centre Star head frame and shipping bins, irrespective of where the big mill is located.

Cariboo District.

An enthusiastic report of conditions in the Cariboo is brought down by D. G. Heal, of Quesnel, who says that great activity is manifest in the Barkerville and Cariboo districts.

Rampolla Group.

B. Cordiana came down on Friday from the Rampolla group, Lightning Peak, where he has been working with a gang of men for the last eight months. He has run two tunnels. One is in about 150 feet and at the face is in 30 inches of solid ore, which will go from 250 to 300 ounces. He has brought some of the most beautiful specimens of native silver and gold ever seen in this district, in quartz, and is thoroughly satisfied with his summer work. He left Edgewood for a short stay at the Halcyon Hot Springs, and on his return will go up to his claims again and is taking up supplies for the winter. James Pogue, an experienced miner who has been working on the Rampolla group for some months, also came down to Edgewood with Mr. Cordiana and left for his home in Greenwood.

Takes Bond.

W. J. Elmendorf, of Seattle, has taken the Mercury group, three miles from Sandon, on a bond for $30,000, and has let a contract to extend a tunnel 50 feet to determine other development. Several carloads were shipped a few years ago from the Mercury and returned 200 oz. in silver and 50 per cent. lead.

Prospects at Le Pas.

Manitoba is competing with the Yukon Territory and British Columbia in the matter of gold rushes. Two rich gold strikes have been made in the eastern part of the province. One near The Pas and the other just on the border of Ontario about 200 miles east of Winnipeg.

Cook's strike at The Pas, which is declared by assayers and mining engineers to give promise of being the richest since the "gray dirt" was discovered in Alaska, was made by accident. He was not even prospecting at the time. The other was a strike of good fortune that surpassed his fondest expectations. He had come to the wilds of Western Ontario to spend a vacation fishing and hunting. By chance, a man named Wachman met Larson, a veteran prospector, who induced him to lay down his fish pole and gun and take up a pick "for exercise." A vein of gold assayed at from $200,000 to $300,000 a ton is among the reported finds.

Future of Premier.

Persistent rumors concerning a large mining deal have been prevalent here for the past week," says The Fernie Free Press. The property in question is that of the Premier Gold Mines, Limited, which is owned and controlled by W. R. Wilson, General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., R. W. Wood and A. B. Trites, of the firm Trites-Wood Co., Ltd., all of Fernie, and Mr. Neill, mining engineer, of Spokane, Wash. It is generally known that Messrs. Trites and Wood are at present in New York City negotiating for a sale and the first report reaching here was that 51 per cent. interest had been disposed of to American capitalists for the sum of two million dollars. It was reported that a one-quarter interest had been purchased by American smelting interests at a figure of one million dollars. These reports have emanated from Vancouver and Spokane respectively, and while confirmation or denial of these reports is not obtainable locally, those in a position to have a slight knowledge of what has been transpiring are of the opinion that it is highly probable a large deal is pending although it is not believed the actual transfer has been consummated.

The Premier Mine is located in the Alaskan Panhandle north of Stewart, B. C., and since the local parties became interested therein, highly glowing reports have been made from time to time with regard to the phenomenally large bodies of very high grade gold-copper ore located in the course of development work. Tests made with sample shipments have shown exceedingly good returns, and the only drawback has been the location of the mine being remote from transportation facilities. Messrs. Trites and Wood are understood to be leaving New York within a day or two on their return to this city, and upon their arrival here the result of the present negotiations will undoubtedly be announced.

of the Victory Loan

The worker looks forward to the day when he receives his pay envelope. It is the reward of his labor, and it enables him to feed, clothe, house and maintain himself and his family. So long as the country is prosperous there will be plenty of jobs for the people. It is only when industry and trade are not flourishing that pay days have no joys for many fellows.

Canadians have, therefore, a responsibility in keeping the wheels of industry running. They must help to keep Canada prosperous if they would have the satisfaction of getting their pay envelopes regularly. They have profited from the growing trade of the country, and they have it within their power to accelerate its prosperity.

The more money they subscribe to the Victory Loan the better it will be for Canada and for themselves. Employers are willing to co-operate with their workers by financing their Bond purchases on an easy payment plan, thus enabling them to buy much more than they would otherwise have been able to buy. Talk over the matter with your employer to-day.

You must help keep Canada prosperous.

Your job and Canada's prosperity are inseparable. Since the prosperity of Canada depends on the success of the Victory Loan you must not shirk your duty to the Victory Loan.

All the money subscribed to the Victory Loan is spent in Canada and helps to fill the pay envelope.

It circulates and benefits all classes.

The greater, the more overwhelming the success of the loan, the better for Canada and for you.

Buy all the Victory Bonds you can pay for now and during the next ten months.

Last year employers co-operated with their employees by financing their purchases on an easy payment plan, thus enabling them to buy much more than they would otherwise have been able to buy. They will do it again.

Talk it over with your employer.

FUEL SITUATION IN CANADA.

Use of Coal in Pulverized Form Will Make Available Large Supplies
Now Valueless.

The fuel situation in Canada is one which must be faced in an effort to overcome the annual threatened shortages and the constantly rising price of coal.

Canada possesses immense coal reserves. Unfortunately, much of it is unsuitable for locomotive purposes, owing to its tendency to spark, also, owing to its high moisture content; it rapidly disintegrates on exposure to the atmosphere. Again, at the mines, both below and above ground, in mining the coal and in handling it, a vast amount of slack is created, which, up to the present, has been considered as waste.

A process for utilizing this slack coal, as well as run-of-mine coal, has for some time been under development. By this method the coal is pulverized until approximately 85 per cent. will pass through a 200-mesh screen and 95 per cent. through a 100-mesh screen. After the coal has been pulverized, it is fed from the bins by screw conveyors and blown into the furnace.

Good results have been secured by cement plants, by the metallurgical industries, and on locomotives. In the heating of large buildings the use of pulverized coal has proved an economical fuel.

Ottawa, has issued a report on "Pulverized Fuel: Its Use and Possibilities," by W. J. Dick, M. Sc., which explains in detail the use of pulverized coal and its advantages.

LIKED THE MODEL.
"Oh, Mr. Kipling, is that your child?" said a gushing dame, stopping the poet on one occasion.

"Yes, madam," he answered, none too graciously.
"What a delightful beautiful and healthy child she is."
"I am reasonably satisfied with her make," retorted Kipling, and on he went.

CARD OF THANKS
Percy E. Downard and Mr. and Mrs. Downard desire to express their sincere thanks to the many friends who, by their kind sympathy and floral offerings, helped to soften our bereavement in the loss of a loving wife and daughter.

GOT FULL CHARGE OF SHOTGUN IN LEG

Percy Otto With Companion Out Shooting To-day; Now in Hospital

Percy Otto, 17 years of age, of 154 George Road, was out hunting to-day with Billy Abbott, of Cook and Fraser Street, on the Welch farm, Royal Oak. As they were climbing over a fence they knocked down one of the pickets which struck and discharged one of the loaded guns that had been left leaning against the fence.

Otto received the full charge of the gun in one of his legs.

A. E. Marcotte, of South Saanich, who was near when the gun was discharged, brought the wounded boy in his motor car to the city and placed him in St. Joseph's Hospital. Doctors immediately put him on the operating table.

An optimistic report on his condition was issued this afternoon.

When you come up to the mark set for yourself, it is safe to conclude that the standard was set too low.

SEVENTY-SIX PER CENT. OF TAXES IN

Reeve Jones of Saanich Forecasts Various By-laws to Be Presented

Seventy-six per cent. of Saanich's taxes have been collected according to an announcement made this morning by Reeve C. B. Jones.

The Reeve states the tax receipts of Saanich to date represent seventy-six per cent. of the total possible to collect for the year 1919, which in itself is an indication of prosperity and industry, and it is particularly noticeable that the small owners are foremost in their payments.

Comparison of Rates

"The following table gives the rates for the last six years:

Year	Assessment of land	Excluding exempt land	General School Debt	Rate in Mills
1914	$26,189,135	7,250,150
1915	27,122,179	8,000,150
1916	27,562,581	8,000,150
1917	27,745,361	8,000,150
1918	27,970,472	8,000,150
1919	28,491,967	8,000,150

"The taxpayers will note that there has been an increase of 1.68 mills in the school rate for 1919 over that of 1918, and a reduction of 1.47 mills in the general rate.

"The school rate is governed almost entirely by the board of school trustees and has been increased due to a great extent to the raise in salaries.

"More schools are absolutely necessary in Saanich, and the taxpayer must look for further increase during the coming years. This year the Council voted out of general revenue the sum of $10,000 towards the building of the Cloverdale School, and it looks as though it will be necessary to vote a like or even larger sum during the year 1920 for the enlargement of other schools.

Ward Expenditures

"It was prophesied by the candidates for the Council that an expenditure of $5,000 per ward would be made during 1919, but the following table would indicate that before the end of the year the average expenditure over the various wards would be about $5,000, an increase of some $3,000 over the year 1918.

Ward	Expenditure
Ward 1	$4,959.84
Ward 2	7,190.77
Ward 3	4,705.00
Ward 4	5,216.13
Ward 5	5,642.18
Ward 6	5,986.92
Ward 7	3,422.88
General	3,422.88
Main trunk roads	4,833.44

Water Works Extension.

"It will be necessary to raise some $175,000 by by-law for the purpose of extending our present system, of which it will require some $100,000 to extend the system to Gordon Head. It is hoped that this necessary by-law will receive the assent of the taxpayers. It might be pointed out that the frontage tax of those who have water will not be increased, nor will those ratepayers whose property does not front on the proposed extension be obliged to pay any more taxes. Those only who will benefit by the extensions will be effected.

"Therefore it is to the advantage of all to cast a vote in favor of this by-law. It means too that the passing of this by-law will create industry, encourage greater production, and beautify our district.

Saanich Memorial Health Centre.

"It is proposed to place before the ratepayers a by-law to raise $25,000 for the purpose of building the above mentioned institution on some location to be selected by a Committee. Saanich has been commended on being first in this forward movement in the essential matter of health, and it is expected that the by-law will pass without opposition.

Ward 7 By-Law

"During the year a by-law was passed authorizing the levying of two mills for the purpose of grading and improving the roads in this ward, and it is fully expected that before the end of five years nearly every road in Ward 7 will be in a fairly good state.

Sewerage Question.

"In the interests of public health the time is soon coming when it will be absolutely necessary to provide adequate sewerage for Wards 2 and 7, and this question is now receiving the serious consideration of the Council.

Soldiers' Housing Scheme

"The opportunity of securing some $45,000 from the Provincial Government for this purpose was taken advantage of for the dual purpose of providing homes for our returned men and for building up our district. The organization was put in the hands of Major Spurgin, an architect, and under his able supervision are work is progressing favorably. Some fourteen houses are under construction—the material having been furnished in quantity and in many cases direct from the manufacturers—thereby a large saving was effected. The work is being done by day labor, preference being given to returned men.

"It is hoped that this organization may be continued as a private enterprise after these houses have been completed and turned over to the soldiers, and it has been suggested that the carpenters, plumbers, painters, etc., take some stock in the enterprise. It would mean that this organization would create a demand for labor, build up and beautify Saanich, and the man with the dinner pail as well as the farmer and the returned man.

Establishment of Industries.

"We are desirous of establishing industries of various kinds, and already a plumber's shop has been started at the old pumping station, Quadra Street. Let us create industries, let us be foremost, for nature has been kind to us and she has given us one of God's beauty spots, and it is within our power to make our fair land the foremost municipality in British Columbia."

IS BOARD SUBJECT TO A MANDAMUS?

Important Compensation Case To-day Before Chief Justice

Chief Justice Hunter this morning heard an application in respect of the Workmen's Compensation Act. W. F. Gibson, of Alberni, was seriously injured in September, 1918, in the fall of a scaffold at the Somerville Cannery Company near Rupert.

He applied for compensation and the Board, after examination, allotted him about $170 in several payments, but refused to make any further payments. Mr. Gibson alleges that he has been wholly disabled since the accident and unable to work, and claims that the Board refuses to give him an independent examination, to which he is willing to submit.

He has brought action against the Board and Dr. G. A. B. Hall, Chief Medical Officer, and the application heard to-day was by John R. Green, Solicitor for Gibson, for an order of Court or Mandamus compelling the Board to give such examination and pay proper compensation.

S. S. Taylor, K.C., of Vancouver, appeared for the Board and contended that no workman has any right of action for mandamus against the Board. The Chief Justice directed that Dr. Hall be examined in the meantime as to the matter of the injuries, and the matter to be further heard next week.

Ottawa Citizen Says Indications Parliament Will Run Full Limit

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—The Citizen to-day says:

"It has been discovered that there is no need of the present Parliament dissolving until June, 1923, and every indication points to its running the full limit. In view of what is happening outside, the tendency of the Government to stick is no more pronounced than that of the Opposition.

"The parliamentary term is for five years dated from 55 days after the return of the last writ of the previous general election. It was only in April, 1913, that this writ was returned, the case in point being the Yukon seat after it went to the committee on privileges and elections.

OBITUARY RECORD

Chan Lam, a well-known member of the local Chinese community, died this morning at his home at 1423 Government Street. He was a native of Canton, China, and has been for many years associated with C. Kent and Co., merchant tailors, of this city. He is survived by his widow, four sons, seven daughters and three grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the Sands Funeral Chapel on Sunday at 1 o'clock, proceeding first to the residence at 826 Caledonia Avenue, then to 1423 Government Street. Interment will be made in the Chinese cemetery.

The death occurred at the residence, 721 Powderley Avenue, yesterday morning of Mrs. Ruth Ferguson, aged thirty-nine years. She is survived by one small son in this city, her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Lee, of Rossland; two sisters, Mrs. C. Wensley, of Victoria, and Mrs. Douglas, of Trail, and one brother, J. Lee, of Vancouver. The funeral will be held from the B. C. Funeral Chapel on Saturday at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

VANCOUVER C.W.V.A. PROTESTS FINDINGS

Federal Parliament Urged by Resolution to Turn Down Gratuity Report

Vancouver, Oct. 31.—In emphatic manner the Vancouver branch of the C. W. V. A. at its meeting last night, gave its opinion of the findings of the Parliamentary Committee appointed to deal with the question of the re-establishment of the returned soldier. While the meeting expressed itself as being absolutely dissatisfied with the findings, and in telegrams to the Premier and the Leader of the Opposition, urged that Parliament reject the report and requested that the original proposals submitted by the C. W. V. A. committee be debated on the floor of the House, the many speakers were temperate in their language.

The sentiment of the meeting found expression in the following resolution submitted by Comrade Walter Drimman, which was unanimously adopted by a standing vote:

"In view of the very unsatisfactory report appearing in the press purporting to be the findings of the special Parliamentary Committee appointed to deal with the whole question of rehabilitation of returned soldiers and their dependents, this C. W. V. A., Vancouver branch, urges upon the Federal Parliament refusal of the report, as it does not meet with the needs of the case, nor in our opinion does the committee shown proper ability to deal with the evidence submitted.

"We further request that the original proposals, as submitted by the C. W. V. A. veterans committee, immediately be laid before Parliament, so that the whole matter be debated on the floor of the House and if necessary, that the session be prolonged for that purpose."

Plans for sending delegates from every branch of the provincial commands to Ottawa to lobby for the original demands were discussed, and it was decided, in conjunction with the other provincial commands, to urge that the views of every Federal member on the question be obtained and laid before the respective members with these on their return to their constituencies.

DRURY'S POSITION ON CONSCRIPTION IS EXPLAINED

Toronto, Oct. 31.—A close personal friend of E. C. Drury, Premier-Elect of Ontario, explaining Mr. Drury's position in regard to conscription, said:

"When Mr. Drury opposed Colonel John A. Currie in North Simcoe in 1917, he was the nominee of the Liberal Party in that riding. Colonel Currie being the sitting member and a strong Conservative, was given as a matter of course, the Union Government endorsement. Mr. Drury, with out his consent, and indeed, contrary to his wishes, was included in a list of Liberal candidates endorsed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. But Mr. Drury was in no way an anti-conscriptionist. At Collingwood, on December 10, 1917, he said that he could not follow Laurier if he opposed the Military Service Act or proposed to abandon the Canadian forces at the front. His statement on that occasion was:

"I stand where I have always stood, an independent pledged to support good and honest Government to work for necessary reforms and to do what I can to bring the war to a successful and speedy end."

Uncle (solemnly): "When I was a lad I was never naughty, like you."

Nephew (inquiringly): "What was the matter with you, uncle? Delicate or something?"

"Gee-Whiz! How it hurts—The Pain in My Foot!"

"Sometimes it is in my arm. Merciful Heaven, how my back hurts in the morning!" It's all due to an over-abundance of this poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Dr. Pierce, which is "keep the kidneys in good order."

"Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking Anacid." This can be obtained at almost any drug store.

Send a bottle of water to the chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive free medical advice as to whether the kidneys are affected. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, take heed, before too late. Get Anacid (anti-uric-acid), for it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Ask your nearest druggist for it or send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package.

PROROGATION MAY COME WITHIN WEEK

Doubt As to Whether Grand Trunk Bill Will Be Disposed of To-day

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Some doubts are expressed as to the ability of the Commons to dispose of the third reading of the Grand Trunk bill at to-day's session of the House. It is understood that several of the amendments moved by the Opposition in committee will again be moved and the House formally divided on each. Owing to the likelihood of there being several divisions many members will be unable to leave for their homes for the week-end as they intended. Should third reading not be reached it will be Tuesday before the bill reaches the Senate but with three sittings daily in the Upper Chamber it is thought that the measure is likely to be disposed of in three days.

In the meantime the Commons will proceed with the consideration of the prohibition legislation and the report of the special committee which dealt with the matter of soldiers' re-establishment which has not yet been presented to the House, although the findings of the committee have been made public.

It is understood that no movement has been made by the Government as yet to fill the Senate vacancies before the Grand Trunk bill is taken up in the Senate, and this not likely to be done if a majority cannot be otherwise secured in the Upper House. As a matter of fact, the bill is more likely to be amended than otherwise by the Senate.

One proposed amendment, which may carry will fix a limit to the amount of value to be placed on Grand Trunk stock to be negotiated.

Members are hopeful but not over-ly confident that prorogation may be reached not later than a week from Saturday. When much depends upon the length of the session in the Commons on the prohibition bills and the report on the soldiers' bill, and the Senate amendments to the Grand Trunk bill, which the Government could not accept might be the cause of prolongation of the session for more than another week. Some of the members elected to fill vacancies in the House will take their seats next week.

Ernest Lapointe, newly-elected leader in Quebec, is expected to take his seat on Monday, and J. W. Kennedy, the U. F. O. member-elect from Glenora, should also be able to take his seat early in the week.

THERE'S MANY A SLIP.

Smithson had been really a power in his day. At any rate, he had held a job bringing him in some thousands a year—that is to say, until the smash came. After that he failed to hold any job he got, and became permanently out of luck.

His old friend Jenkins was a bit surprised, therefore, when Smithson stopped him in the street one day and angrily exclaimed:—

"D'you know, I've just received the prize insult of my life! A chap down in the city offered me a job this morning!"

"Offered you a job?" replied Jenkins. "D'you call that an insult? I thought you were looking for a job!"

"Yes, but not a five quid a week. Hang it all, I can borrow more than that from you!"—Tit-Bits.

HE GOT THE PIN.

Something glittered in the mud of the crowded street. It was a pin.

"See a pin and pick it up, and all day long you'll have good luck," he muttered as he started off to get the pin.

He had learned that old saying when quite a child. As he bent down to reach the pin his hat fell off and rolled under a cab-wheel. His eyeglasses also fell, and broke on the hard road.

A bus caught him in one side and a baker's van on the other, the two nearly crushing the life out of him. He made a dash for the pavement and upset a cyclist. It was a great adventure, but he had got the pin.—Tit-Bits.

BRIDGE DELAY

ANGERS MAYOR

His Worship Wants Structure Started; Only Clause Defers Agreement

Drastic action to end the Johnson Street bridge squabble and get the bridge built so that railway terminal and related development will not be further retarded, is proposed in an announcement by Mayor Porter today.

"Only one clause in the agreement separates the city and the C.P.R. from agreement and the start of construction," stated the Mayor. "This clause has to do with the rights of cars, other than those of the C.P.R., on the bridge."

"We are now getting to the end of the year and we want some action instead of allowing the matter to drift on as it has in the past. At the same time we are now nearer to an agreement than ever before."

"From the way I feel about it now, I think that we may have to take the chance of putting the by-law with the clause, if the C.P.R. will not modify it, before the people at the coming election and let them say whether they will agree to it as it is."

"It is a hard thing to settle unless the railway company concedes to our request. At the same time I am anxious to see it settled and settled before the end of the year. If we can't get the offending clause removed by the C.P.R., we can't do anything more. But that leaves the situation unsatisfactory to the city as we want some action and want the bridge built so that there will be no further delay in development."

In the hope of getting something started, the Mayor said that he would likely bring the matter up before the Council again at his first opportunity.

He called City Solicitor Pringle to his office and instructed him to investigate and see what can be done with the C.P.R. on this one clause by having the matter dealt with by the Board of Railway Commissioners. To get action from the Board, the Mayor pointed out, it is necessary to get authority from Ottawa.

At the same time the Mayor telegraphed Grant Hall, vice-president of the C.P.R., that it was impossible to agree to the proposals of the company that if a plan to modify without annulling the offending clause were devised the company would consider such a plan.

The Mayor has also written President E. W. Beatty of the C.P.R., asserting that the attitude of the company towards the clause is untenable and unreasonable, and does not furnish any basis of compromise.

Premier John Oliver has informed the Mayor that his Government will not agree to the clause.
